LORETTA YOUNG STARS IN SALESGIRL ROLE ON PREMIERE OF 'LETTER TO LORETTA', SERIES BASED ON FAN MAIL

Screen star Loretta Young plays the role of a perfume salesgirl in "Trial Run," the NBC-TV premiere program of LETTER TO LORETTA, Sunday, Sept. 20 (10 p.m., EDT).

In the first of the new series, inspired by letters received by the actress requesting advice on personal matters, Miss Young enacts the role of a girl who uses desperate methods to test her fiancee's love.

Carol, an attractive salesgirl, becomes engaged to a wealthy customer, Keith Warren (George Nadar) who takes her to meet his family.
An old flame of Keith's, Barbara Parlow (Jorja Cortwright), implies that Carol will never be accepted by the socially-prominent Warrens, a statement which infuriates Carol. As a test of Keith's loyalty and love for her, Carol puts on a daring girl-about-town pose, calculated to shock the family and prove to herself that Barbara is wrong.

Each week, Miss Young will play the leading role in the series -- oftentimes that of the author of the letter -- in a dramatized

Pinkham has a Choate-Yale '36 background, and Culligan worked his way through Columbia. Pinkham is 39 years old. Culligan, at 34, counts 21 years of working on his career -- considering age 13 as his debut.

Both men, who reside with ample families in the Greenwich-Rye area, have extensive sales and editorial backgrounds. Pinkham broke in with Laura Z. Hobson, writing ad copy for Time, Inc. After the war, he worked on the New York Herald Tribune as circulation director and left in August, 1951, as a member of the board.

Prior to joining NBC sales, Culligan was vice president of Sutherland Productions, TV film producers, as their sales promotion head. Earlier positions were with Radio-TV News, Modern Bride and Flying.

When not pushing "Today" over the top of the graph, both men enjoy relaxations that are perhaps typical of them. Pinkham sails a small boat out of Rye well enough to qualify for championship yachting, and Culligan restores the antique furniture which now graces his home.

'DING DONG SCHOOL'S' DR. HORWICH AND PRODUCER WERRENATH ARE AUTHORS OF 7 CHILDREN'S BOOKS BASED ON NBC-TV SERIES

Millions of pre-school children throughout the country who have access to a television set consider that day ruined which does not include a session of watching NBC-TV's DING DONG SCHOOL and its "Miss Frances."

"Miss Frances," who is actually Dr. Frances Horwich, a leading authority on early childhood and primary education, has been devoting some of her time and talent recently to writing books for her enthusiastic viewers, as well as for those who are not within range of the Monday-through-Friday (10 a.m., EDT) telecasts.

Published today (Sept. 1) by Rand McNally & Company, are seven books based directly on the stories, games and activities of the famous program. Miss Frances herself has written the books with the collaboration of Reinald Werrenrath, Jr., the program's producer and director.

Six of the books are storybooks -- handy in size, simply told, and filled with colorful pictures -- which even the very smallest child can "read" for himself (with perhaps a little assistance from a grown-up). The storybooks are titled: "Your Friend, the Policeman," "Debbie and Her Nap," "A Suitcase With a Surprise," "The Big Coal Truck," "I Decided" and "A Day Downtown With Daddy."

The seventh book is somewhat larger; it is titled "Miss Frances' Ding Dong School Book," an activity book that demonstrates what Dr. Horwich has already proved on television -- that nursery school fun and philosophy can be brought into the home to delight and benefit pre-school children.

"Miss Frances' Ding Dong School Book' was written to help parents and children enjoy together the many 'Ding Dong School' activities that we have used on our television program," Dr. Horwich and Werrenrath say in an introductory note to parents.

"Many of the activities a child will want -- and will be able to do alone. For others, the child will need help.

"The illustrations so handsomely done by Katherine Evans should aid in starting a child off in the right direction. But, rather than limiting the child's thinking, they should be used to encourage the child to express his or her own ideas.

"The content was written with the thought that it would be read to a young child by some older member of the family. We hope that the book will contribute to family fun as well as to the individual child's happiness."

Among the many activities for children outlined in "Miss Frances' Ding Dong School Book" are finger-painting, corn drawing, planting pumpkin seeds, making a scrapbook, working with clay, fun with music (such as making a tom-tom), paper tearing, building with blocks, making things with pipe cleaners, planting a sweet potato, working at the easel, sand play, water play, dress-up play and making paper-bag masks.

Dr. Horwich has written a prefatory note to parents for each of the books in the "Ding Dong School" series.

The reviewer book is not just a book; it is a living "Miss Famous" Ding Dong School Book, an activity book that demonstrates and Dr. Horvath has already proved an education -- that nursery rhymes fun and that people can be brought into the home to delight and benefit

"Miss Famous" Ding Dong School Book, was written to help children and children enjoy together the many "Ding Dong School" songs that we have used in our television program," Dr. Horvath said.
With an introduction by the author, the book is an introduction to "Many of the activities a child will want -- and will be able to do alone, and some, but still will want help

"The illustrations are particularly done by Katherine Evans and in starting a child off in the right direction. For rather than limiting the child's thinking, they should be used to encourage the child to express his or her own ideas.
"The content was written with the thought that it would be read to a young child by some other member of the family. It is that the book will contribute to family fun as well as to the individual child's happiness."

Among the many activities for children outlined in "Miss Famous" Ding Dong School Book are finger-pointing, color drawing, standing position songs, making a sandwich, working with clay, pinning songs (such as making a sandwich), paper folding, rolling with plastic writing things with eye charts, planting a sweet potato, working on the wall, and glue, water play, dot-to-dot play and making paper boats

Dr. Horvath has written a directory note to parents in the book in the "Ding Dong School" series.

About "Your Friend, the Policeman," Dr. Horwich says: "The purpose of this story is to help children establish a genuine friendship with the policeman, so that they will learn to respect him and turn to him for help when in need."

About "Debbie and Her Nap": "This story was written to help young children enjoy getting ready for their naps, and to help them accept the idea of a nap as a regular part of their day's activity."

About "A Suitcase With a Surprise": "Here is a story about a child's imaginary trip on a train which his mother helped make a pleasant experience for him. Such creative play is an important part of a child's development, and in this story I have tried to suggest something that will lead children to create their own make-believe situations."

Speaking of "The Big Coal Truck," Dr. Horwich says: "In this story, a little boy witnesses the fascinating operation of unloading coal from a truck into the basement of an apartment building. There are many new and interesting things for him to see and discuss with his parents. Seeing new activities gives a child new and interesting ideas to carry out in his play. At these times, all we need to do is give him a little encouragement to get started."

Of "I Decided": "This is a story of a child making her first decision. We all know that learning to make decisions is an important experience for a young child. In this story Mother helps the child think through the problem, but Jean makes her own decision."

Of "A Day Downtown With Daddy": "In this story, a brother and sister experience the wonders of a big city in the company of their father. Such a day is a very happy experience and long remembered and ... about the policeman, so that they will learn to respect him and

... to him for help when in need."

About "Daddy and How Big": "This story was written for young children who are getting ready for their own, and to help them accept the idea of a dog as a regular part of their life's activities."
About "A Policeman with a Mustache": "This is a story about a child's imaginary play with a policeman which his mother told him pleasant experience for him. When creative play is an important part of a child's development, and in this story I have tried to suggest something that will help children to create their own when they have experiences."

Speaking of "The Big Coal Truck," Dr. Lomax says: "In this story, a little boy witnesses the fascinating operation of a loading coal from a truck into the basement of an apartment building.
There are many new and interesting things for him to see and discuss with his parents. Reading new activities gives a child new and interesting experiences to carry out in his play. At these times, all we need to do is give him a little encouragement to get started."

Of "Daddy": "This is a story of a child's learning to read. We all know that learning to read is a difficult task and that it takes a long time. In this story, we have written the child think through the problem, but learn to read on his own."
Of "A Boy's Adventure with Daddy": "In this story a mother and father experience the wonder of a big city in the course of their trip. Such a boy is a very happy experience and long remembered and talked about by most young children. From such a trip the child's understanding of the town in which he lives is increased. At the same time it is lots of fun. I hope this story will help families in planning such trips."

The "activity book" costs two dollars in hard covers; one dollar in soft covers. The little story books are each 25 cents. They are the first of a projected series; others will be announced from time to time.

The now-famous TV program made its first appearance on the TV screen as a local Chicago telecast on Oct. 3, 1952. It was an instantaneous success. Five weeks after its opening, it became an NBC-TV network feature, and since then it has continued to grow in popularity.

NBC RADIO AFFILIATES COMMITTEE MEETS IN N.Y. AND ADVISES STATIONS OF 'CONSTRUCTIVE AND STIMULATING' NETWORK PLANS

Following an all-day meeting yesterday (Tuesday, Sept. 1) of the NBC Radio Network Affiliates Committee with network officials in New York, the committee sent the following message to NBC Radio Network Stations:

"To the NBC Radio Affiliates:"

"In accordance with its earlier report to you, your committee met with the NBC representatives today for the purpose of reviewing with them the suggestions which they propose to present to the full meeting of the NBC Radio Affiliates in Chicago on Sept. 17. All eight members of your committee were present. The representatives of NBC were: William H. Fineshriber, Jr., Ted Cott, Fred Horton, Harry Bannister, David C. Adams, John Cleary, and Merrill Mueller. The principal presentations were made by Messrs. Fineshriber, Cott and Horton.

"The reasons for and results of the separation of the operating departments in radio and television, which had been generally urged by the affiliates, were fully discussed with us.

"Messrs. Cott and Fineshriber outlined to us in some detail the program plans which NBC proposed to put into effect Oct. 4. It is the general opinion of your committee that these proposals are constructive and stimulating and give evidence of careful analysis and originality of thought.

"The NBC representatives also discussed with us on a tentative basis certain proposals for sales and promotion efforts designed to create and obtain new business. These proposals have not been entirely finalized. We were advised, however, that they would be finalized in time for full presentation to you at the Chicago meeting on Sept. 17.

"This is merely an interim report. It is impossible for us to cover in any detail the various plans and proposals which will be presented for the consideration of the meeting on Sept. 17.

"We believe that meeting to be one of utmost importance to all affiliates and again urge that you make every effort to attend."

The message to the affiliates was sent by Robert D. Swezey, chairman of the Affiliates Committee and Harold Essex, the committee secretary and treasurer.

Members of the committee attending the meeting at the NBC Radio City studios in New York were: Paul W. Morency of WTIC, Hartford, Conn.; John Norton of WAVE, Louisville, Ky.; Clair R. McCullough of Steinman Stations (Pa. and Del.); Robert Swezey of WDSU, New Orleans, La.; Robert B Hanna, of WGY, Schenectady, N.Y., Harold Essex of WSJS, Winston-Salem, N.C.; E.H. MERCHANDISING PIECES ON NBC-TV'S 'TODAY' REACH
THE MILLION MARK, MERCHANDISING HEAD REPORTS

The 1,000,000th piece of special merchandising material for TODAY, NBC-TV's early-morning news and special events program, has just been distributed by the NBC merchandising department, Fred N. Dodge, director, said today (Sept. 2).

Noting the rapidly increased use by sponsors of tie-in material featuring Dave Garroway, star of the show, and other "Today" personalities, Dodge said:

"The use of these merchandising pieces tied directly to a specific program and personality marks a forward step in network television merchandising. Everyone concerned benefits--the sponsor gains valuable identification with the program, the retailers, wholesalers and distributors are alerted to and sold on the power of the sponsors' television advertising, and the consumer can readily identify and remember the products seen on 'Today'."

Among the merchandising pieces which the NBC merchandising department recently has made available for "Today" sponsors are easel-backed display cards, correspondence stickers, tent cards, window streamers, hang tags, drug price cards, small drug display cards, shelf strips, shelf barkers, photos of Dave Garroway, jumbo postcards and special "Today" letterheads for direct mail use.

'YOUR SHOW OF SHOWS,' DISPLAYING ITS SMART 'NEW LOOK,' RETURNS WITH SID CAESAR AND IMOGENE COCA SEPT. 12

New Format Will Offer More 'Name' Guest Stars; Lily Pons, Nat 'King' Cole, Ballerina Tamara Toumanova on Premiere

Sporting a svelte "new look," YOUR SHOW OF SHOWS, television's glittering counterpart of a big Broadway musical revue starring Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca, will begin its fifth season on NBC Saturday, Sept. 12 (9-10:30 p.m., EDT).

The guest stars of the opening program will be Lily Pons, celebrated coloratura soprano; Nat "King" Cole, popular song stylist, and Tamara Toumanova, internationally famous ballerina, who will be making her TV debut.

The outstanding 90-minute extravaganza, guided by producer-director Max Liebman, will be presented this season with emphasis on more "name" guest stars. The old, fixed format has been discarded, and in its place the "new look" will feature a fluid format which can be varied or completely changed from week to week.

2 - Your Show of Shows

The new program philosophy was evolved by Liebman, working in close cooperation with Charles C. Barry, NBC vice president in charge of TV network programming, and Hal Janis, newly-appointed executive producer of "Your Show of Shows."

Appearing in support of Caesar and Miss Coca on the shows will be Carl Reiner and Howard Morris. Both actors, who were with the show last season, are top comedians who display amazing versatility in their numerous comedy characterizations. The other regular performers from last season's cast will be featured on the programs from time to time.

Under the new program policy, "Your Show of Shows" will feature fresh, new talent on various telecasts. On the premiere show (Sept. 12), Liebman will introduce a brilliant, young singer, Joan Walker, who has been appearing in concerts in this country since her arrival from her native Ireland a year ago.

Another important change will be inaugurated this season when "Your Show of Shows" is presented three weeks out of every four, instead of every week. The network's "All Star Revue" will occupy the Saturday night time period every fourth week. In addition, the Caesar-Coca series will originate from NBC's spacious Center Theatre, where its tremendous stage and facilities will allow for more ambitious production numbers and special effects.

One of the all-time great television programs, "Your Show of Shows" has won the highest critical acclaim and most of the important awards in the industry during its illustrious four-year history. It established Caesar and Coca as top-ranking stars who have won almost every major TV honor.

'THIS IS YOUR LIFE,' SERIES OF SURPRISE BIOGRAPHIES
EMCEED BY RALPH EDWARDS, TO START NEW SEASON ON NBC

THIS IS YOUR LIFE, the NBC-TV program which proves that truth is not only stranger, but more dramatic than fiction will inaugurate its Fall series of programs on Wednesday, Sept. 30, at 10 p.m., EST. Creator and star of the show, Ralph Edwards, will once more re-create for the viewing audience the lives of different individuals--sometimes celebrities, sometimes a private citizen with a special story--in detail.

Each subject for a "This Is Your Life" program has a human interest story to tell, either of heroism, sacrifice, outstanding civic contributions or a spectacular career.

During the past season Edwards has covered the lives of Dinah Shore, Fran Allison and Roy Rogers, among the celebrities, and Billie Clevenger, an NBC telephone operator; Helene Ruthling, a foster mother and ranch owner, and Hanna Kohner, a former inmate of a concentration camp, among the lesser-known citizens.

Edwards has a large staff helping him to learn the background of each subject chosen for "This Is Your Life." About 20 persons get busy about two weeks in advance of a particular program and telephone all sections of the country--to the wife, the husband, friends, relatives, business and school acquaintances of the individual whose life is to be dramatized. Piece by piece, the story falls into a pattern.

As many as 100 long-distance phone calls have been made tracing down the life of a particular person. One of these calls was made to Oologah, Okla., where there was only one telephone operator, and no phone service when she went to lunch. Edwards waited, however, and got his man.

Only once has the principal subject caught on before show time and the program was canceled out. This was when actress Ann Sheridan found out by accident that Edwards and his staff were doing research on her life prior to luring her to the El Capitan Theatre for one of their little surprise parties. As time goes by it will become increasingly difficult to deceive celebrities since the El Capitan is becoming very well known for being the point of origination for "This Is Your Life." Edwards' little tricks such as using a performer to introduce a fellow performer--and then turning the tables on his unsuspecting 'assistant' will be difficult to repeat. However, if the past versatility displayed by Edwards in flights of imaginative conniving continues, there will be new and better tricks.

The members of the Edwards' staff conduct their research with FBI-like secrecy to prevent possible leaks and are phenomenally successful, considering the human tendency to tell secrets to "just one or two friends."

DINAH SHORE AND BOB HOPE TO COME TO N.Y. FOR 'COLOR PREMIERES';

OTHER MAJOR NBC SERIES ALSO TO FACE RCA-NBC COLOR CAMERAS

FOR RELEASE TUESDAY, P.M., SEPT. 8, 1953

The Dinah Shore and Bob Hope television shows, which normally originate on the West Coast, will be brought to New York for their "color premieres", the National Broadcasting Company revealed today in making public its schedule of top commercial shows thus far slated for the color cameras. The "premieres" are scheduled for Oct. 6 and Nov. 17 respectively.

Under plans already announced, the "premieres" will be in the form of dress rehearsals pending Federal Communications Commission approval of standards on which the RCA-NBC compatible color system is based, with the regular telecast following in black and white. Upon FCC approvals, the "color premieres" will go on the air in color.

First "premiere" scheduled is for "Robert Montgomery Presents," on Sept. 28. Others are the "Paul Winchell Show" Oct. 11; "Television Playhouse," Oct. 18; "Your Show of Shows," Oct. 24; and "Your Hit Parade," Nov. 7.

(more)

The "premieres" will be held at NBC's Colonial Theatre, world's first fully-equipped television studio for compatible color, which has been the center of intensive experimental work in color programming for almost a year.

NBC has been colorcasting sustaining programs for several months under experimental authorization of the FCC. These programs have been seen on ordinary sets in high-definition black and white.

Premiere Sept. 13 Will Feature 'Huckleberry Finn' Incident
With Eddie Albert, Thomas Mitchell, Clifford Tatum
And Sugar Ray Robinson in Dramatic Debut

Former President Harry S. Truman will appear on EXCURSION, the Ford Foundation TV-radio Workshop's new 26-week NBC-TV series for young people, Sunday, Sept. 20 (3:30-4:00 p.m., EDT). He will talk about the opportunities that lie ahead for this country's young people.

Former President Herbert Hoover may take part in a later program in this series. ||

The premiere telecast, Sept. 13, will feature a dramatization of the incident from Mark Twain's "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" in which the two scalawags, the Duke and the Dauphin, join Huck and Jim on the raft. Eddie Albert will portray the Duke and Thomas Mitchell the Dauphin. Sugar Ray Robinson, retired world's middleweight boxing champion, will make his debut as a dramatic actor as Jim. Clifford Tatum will play Huck.

(more)

The Sept. 13 program also will offer previews of things to come on the series, which is designed to give young people stimulating views of the worlds of literature, science, sports, art, the theatre, career-building, government and other fields. Americans who have made distinguished contributions in these fields will appear throughout the 26 weeks.

Burgess Meredith, the stage and film star, will be master of ceremonies on the series.

The purpose of "Excursion," as outlined by the Ford Foundation's TV-Radio Workshop, is "to demonstrate that quality entertainment for young people can also be commercially successful on television. In collaboration with educators, the program is being built on the premise that it is possible to quicken the native intelligence and curiosity of young people and do it in ways that will attract an audience."

EVERYTHING'S FINE AT JEFFERSON CITY JUNIOR HIGH;
'MR. PEEPERS' IS BACK AT HIS SCIENCE CLASS DESK

MR. PEEPERS, one of TV's most beloved characters, resumes his scholastic duties in Jefferson City for the Fall when the popular comedy series, starring Wally Cox, returns to NBC-TV on Sunday, Sept. 13 (7:30 p.m., EDT). With the heart-warming junior high school science teacher will be all of his friends and neighbors who have helped make "Mr. Peepers" a welcome visitor in millions of viewers' homes since his first modest appearance on their video screens.

For the comic adventures of mild-mannered Robinson Peepers, who frequently finds himself involved in one situation after another as a result of his highly original reactions to a world he never made, have endeared themselves to an affectionate public. Once again this season, Mr. Peepers will be closely associated with his colleagues -- sweet, disorganized Mrs. Gurney (Marion Lorne); school nurse Nancy Remington, Peepers' favorite lady (Patricia Benoit); Harvey Weskit,

Peepers' well-meaning confidant (Tony Randall) and the latter's recent bride, Marge Weskit (Georgiann Johnson). Other familiar players will join the scene as the various scripts demand.

"Mr. Peepers" was launched on NBC-TV as a Summer show on July 3, 1952. Shortly after the final program, Sept. 25, the network was besieged with literally thousands of letters from fans demanding that the show be retained as a permanent attraction. A regular Fall series, starring Wally Cox in the role he initially assumed experimentally, started on Oct. 26 last year, to the satisfaction of virtually everyone concerned.

Fred Coe is executive producer of "Mr. Peepers." Hal Keith will double in brass as producer while continuing his directorial chores, as heretofore. Scripts will still be written by Jim Fritzell and Everett Greenbaum, while Bernie Green will once again have the responsibility for the music. James Russell will design the settings.

"Mr. Peepers" will be sponsored, as before, by the Reynolds Metals Company. Russel M. Seeds Co., Inc., is the agency. The program originates "live" in New York City.

Part 1. Introduction

The purpose of this report is to provide a comprehensive overview of the current state of the industry. It will discuss the key challenges and opportunities facing the sector, and offer recommendations for how to address these issues. The report is structured as follows:

1.1. Background and Context

The industry has experienced significant growth in recent years, driven by a combination of factors including technological innovation, changing consumer preferences, and a supportive regulatory environment. However, this growth has also brought about a number of challenges, such as increased competition, rising costs, and a need for greater transparency and accountability.

1.2. Key Challenges

One of the primary challenges facing the industry is the rapid pace of technological change. This has led to a need for continuous investment in research and development, as well as a focus on upskilling the workforce. Another major challenge is the increasing pressure on companies to demonstrate their commitment to social and environmental responsibility. This has led to a growing emphasis on sustainability and ethical practices.

1.3. Opportunities

Despite these challenges, there are also a number of opportunities for the industry. The continued growth of the market, coupled with the emergence of new technologies and business models, offers a range of possibilities for innovation and expansion. Additionally, the increasing focus on sustainability and ethical practices presents a chance for companies to differentiate themselves and build a stronger brand.

2 - 'Your Hit Parade' Returns

Dan Lounsbery will produce the series, with William Nichols as associate producer. Clark Jones is once again the director. The novel choreography will be devised once ^{more}_{mc} by Tony Charmoli. Announcer Andre Baruch, set designer Paul Barnes and costumer Sal Anthony also will be back at their regular assignments.

The prize-winning program, often cited in the past for its originality, ingenuity and expert production values, will have alternate sponsors this season. Its previous sponsor, the American Tobacco Company for Lucky Strike Cigarettes, will present the opening show. The following week, Saturday, Sept. 19, the Crosley Division of the AVCO Manufacturing Corporation, will be the sponsor. Alternate week sponsorship will continue thereafter on this basis. Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn is the agency for both clients.

NBC RADIO'S 'BIG STORY' RETURNS SEPT. 23
WITH AUTHENTIC DRAMA ON CHICAGO KIDNAPING

Radio's "Big Story" will return to the air after a Summer hiatus Wednesday, Sept. 23 (NBC, 9:30 p.m., EDT) with a dramatization of a reporter's experience with a publicity-hungry killer.

The reporter, Eden Wright of the Chicago Daily News, helped reunite a family which had been separated for more than 20 years. Kidnaping of an infant whose whereabouts could not be traced by the parents had caused the broken family. Real names rarely are used on "Big Story," but will be this time.

"Big Story" began on the NBC radio network April 2, 1947, using the same basic format it still follows: dramatizations of authentic experiences of newspapermen and women on their most notable assignments. Each program faithfully outlines highlights of such an actual event.

These semi-documentary plays reveal the public service performed by reporters not only in helping authorities solve crimes but in ferreting out facts which prevent miscarriages of justice, helping the unfortunate to become rehabilitated, or in uncovering corruption in local politics.

Each reporter whose story is used on "Big Story" receives a $500 award.

Bob Sloane is narrator. The series is produced by Bernard J. Prockter, directed by James Hayes, with Wladimir Solinsky as music director.

"Big Story" is sponsored by the American Cigarette and Cigar Co. for Pall Mall cigarettes. The agency is Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell and Bayles, Inc.

EZIO PINZA STARS IN 'BONINO,' SITUATION COMEDY SERIES
BY STAR WRITING TEAM; NOTED SUPPORTING CAST NAMED

Ezio Pinza, and a brilliant supporting cast will go on the air Saturday, Sept. 12 in a new program BONINO (NBC-TV, 8 p.m., EDT). It will be a situation comedy seen weekly, with Pinza as Bonino, a concert singer who is the father of eight motherless children.

In the opening script, Pinza comes home to find there are many problems in the house that he hadn't suspected. He also finds that he has drifted away from his children and that they don't even need him anymore. So he decides to give up his concert tours to stay home and raise his own family.

The program was conceived by Thomas W. Phipps and will be written by Robert Alan Aurthur and David Shaw. All three men have achieved distinction for their writing on television. Fred Coe will be executive producer of the weekly series.

Sponsor of the opening telecast will be the Philip Morris Company, Ltd. Philip Morris will sponsor the first three telecasts

BY STAR WRITING TEAM; NOTED SUPPORTING CAST MARRIED

It will be a situation comedy seen weekly, with Pina as heroine, a talented singer who is the father of eight motherless children.
In the opening night, Pina comes home to find there are any problems in the house that he hadn't suspected. He also finds that he has drifted away from his children and that they don't even need him anymore. So he decides to give up his concert tours to stay home and raise his own family.

The program was conceived by Thomas W. Frippe and will be written by Robert Alan Armstrong and David Green. All three men have received distinction for their writing on television. Fred Go will be executive producer of the weekly series.
Sponsor of the opening telecast will be the Philip Morris Company, Inc. Philip Morris will sponsor the first three telecasts alone and starting with the fourth week will be joined by the Lady Esther Company, Ltd., as co-sponsor.

Ezio Pinza brings to this program his years of experience in many entertainment media. He has been successful in opera, as well as a top name in concert, radio and recordings. His appearance in the Broadway hit "South Pacific" brought him even wider recognition. Since then he has starred in films and in television shows.

This will mark the first time that Pinza will appear in a weekly program with a story-line. The various problems and joys of the different children will be treated in the forthcoming shows. There also will be a touch of romance for the widower Bonino.

Pinza's great voice will be heard often, but his singing will be woven into the fabric of the script.

The cast also will include Mary Wicks, David Opatashu, Mike Kellin, Conrad Janis, Lenka Petersen, Chet Allen (who created the role of "Amahl") Oliver Andes, Gaye Houston and Van Dyke Parks.

Gordon Duff has been chosen by executive producer Fred Coe to be producer-director of the series.

BRIG. GEN. SARNOFF ANNOUNCES NBC EXECUTIVE ASSIGNMENTS

FOR RELEASE WEDNESDAY, A.M. PAPERS, SEPT. 9

NEW YORK, Sept. 9--Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, Chairman of the Board of the National Broadcasting Company, today made the following announcement to the NBC staff:

"In view of the general expectation that compatible color television will be authorized in the near future on a commercial basis, it is essential that steps be taken to integrate color with our present black-and-white service as soon as authority is granted by the FCC.

"Plans for color telecasting have been developed and completed by Mr. Weaver, to whom I assigned this special task some time ago. These plans are comprehensive and far-reaching for our network, our affiliates and our clients.

"The continued growth of our television network, and the expansion our operations will assume with the advent of color, make it necessary that the program and sales activities of the NBC television network be headed by executives who will be free to devote their full time and attention to their respective duties. Accordingly, I have made the following assignments, effective immediately:

STATE OF MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE
FOR THE YEAR 1917

The year 1917 was a year of unusual activity in the agricultural industry of Michigan. The production of many of our principal crops was increased, and the general condition of the farms was improved. This was due to the fact that the weather was generally favorable, and the farmers were more successful in their operations than in previous years.

The total value of the agricultural products of Michigan for the year 1917 was estimated at $1,200,000,000, an increase of 10% over the value for the year 1916. This increase was due to the fact that the production of many of our principal crops was increased, and the general condition of the farms was improved.

NEW YORK PREMIERE OF 'THE ROBE,' FIRST CINEMASCOPE FEATURE, TO BE COVERED WITH COLORFUL BROADCAST FROM ROXY THEATRE

Highlights of the Roxy Theatre, New York, premiere of "The Robe," the first motion picture ever made in Hollywood's new CinemaScope process, will be described by Ben Grauer and Faye Emerson in a special NBC radio broadcast Saturday, Sept. 19, (8:30-9 p.m., EDT).

The program will give listeners a detailed description of the arrival of stars and celebrities who will be interviewed on the significance of the new CinemaScope process for the future of the industry. Professor Henri Chretien, inventor of the CinemaScope, and Darryl F. Zanuck, 20th Century-Fox production chief, will appear on the broadcast.

CinemaScope gives the film a new dimension and utilizes a curved screen as wide and high as the theatre's stage. It is viewed without the use of special glasses. "The Robe" is based on Lloyd C. Douglas's best seller about the origin of Christianity in the Roman era.

SERVICE REQUEST FROM JOHNSON AND JOHNSON MARKS
100TH NBC CLIENT SERVED BY MERCHANDISING DEPT.

A recent request for merchandising service from Johnson & Johnson marks the 100th client of the NBC radio and television networks to be served by the NBC Merchandising Department since its organization in January, 1952.

"This is a milestone in network merchandising and is another step in the recognition of the value of merchandising in the broadcasting field," Fred N. Dodge, NBC merchandising director, said. Dodge pointed out that while this is the 100th advertiser to request the services of the NBC Merchandising Department, there actually have been many more requests for merchandising assistance, since many advertisers have made more than one request.

Johnson & Johnson requested NBC merchandising services on behalf of its new Band-Aid "Super Stick" campaign.

Among the 100 NBC radio and television advertisers who have requested and received the services of the Merchandising Department are General Foods, General Motors, Reynolds Metals, Gillette Safety Razor Company, E.R. Squibb & Son, U.S. Rubber Company, Gerber Products, Simoniz, Speidel Corp., Emerson Drug, Armour & Company, and International Harvester.

"The files of our department bulge with evidence that network merchandising has helped move additional millions of dollars of goods from retail outlets all over the country," Dodge said. "We have found that our work, and that of our affiliate stations, is resulting in an increased awareness by retailers of the great influence on their sales that is exercised by the broadcast media."

FULL TV FOOTBALL COVERAGE EACH SATURDAY AFTERNOON
--PREVIEW, TOP GAME AND SCOREBOARD-- SCHEDULED ON NBC NETWORK

NBC-TV this Fall will present the most comprehensive coverage of intercollegiate football ever seen by American televiewers.

On Saturday, Sept. 19, the network's telecasts of the schedule of top collegiate contests authorized by the National Collegiate Athletic Association will start with coverage of the Oregon-Nebraska game at Lincoln, Neb. (3:45 p.m., EDT). The series again will be sponsored by General Motors.

In addition to this series, which will include 11 complete games and two panoramic presentations involving four games each, NBC will surround these telecasts with other programs designed to give the fan practically an entire afternoon of football entertainment.

Each Saturday the Oldsmobile division of General Motors will sponsor a 15-minute preview of the game to be covered immediately thereafter. The preview program will originate in New York and will

'KATE SMITH HOUR' RETURNS TO NBC-TV SEPT. 21
IN NEW 3 TO 4 P.M. (EDT) TIME-SPOT

Innovations Planned for Popular 5-Times-a-Week Series

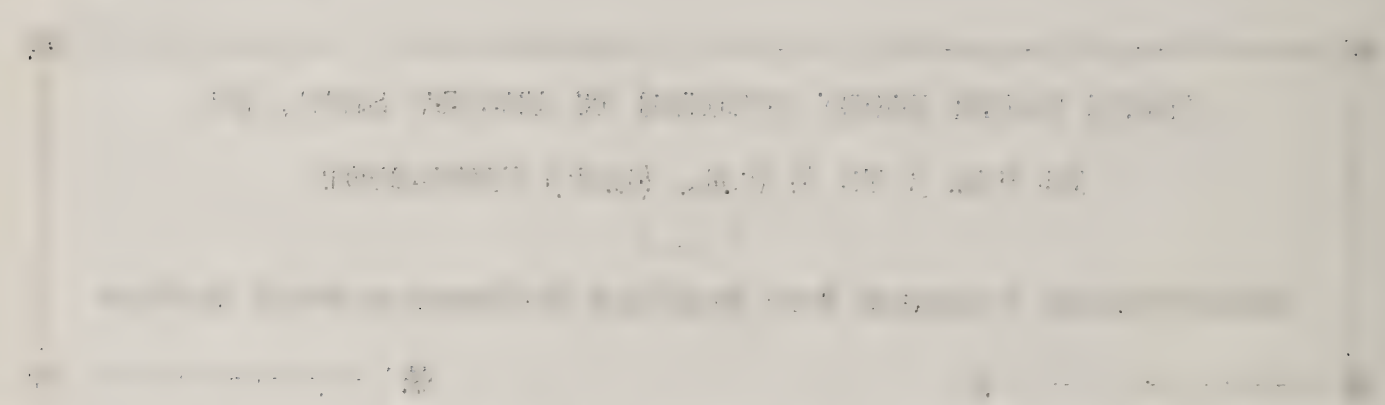

Kate Smith, one of America's top entertainers, will return to NBC television Monday, Sept. 21, for her fourth season as star of the KATE SMITH HOUR, daytime television's high-caliber variety program.

The highly popular afternoon series, to be seen Mondays through Fridays at a new time this season 3 to 4 p.m., EDT, will feature several major innovations, according to producer Ted Collins. The format has been redesigned to permit greater flexibility in the presentation of the various features and to allow the special guests to participate in the entire full-hour program instead of appearing in just one portion of it.

Two young stars, ventriloquist-comedian Jimmy Nelson (with his woodenside-kick, Danny O'Day) and singer Jeff Clark, have been signed by Collins to appear on the program at regular intervals during the season.

The accent will be on top-flight variety entertainment interspersed with public service features such as Collins' noted "Cracker-

Miss Smith and Collins plan to present such outstanding features as original TV dramas, written especially for the "Kate Smith Hour"; operatic vignettes featuring capsule portions of outstanding operas with leading singers from the Metropolitan Opera, New York City Center and La Scala Opera of Milan; and classical ballet performed by top dancers.

There will be more comedy, singing and music, spotlighting top name artists and featuring members of the Kate Smith regulars: The Katydids (four girls and a boy) vocal quintet, the Kateds dance trio and the Showtimers song and dance trio.

Alene Dalton, the popular Story Princess who received an unprecedented amount of mail last season, will return to weave her fascinating tales for children.

Other entertainment features planned by Collins for the new season include guest appearances of top name bands and previews of major motion pictures. The movie preview segment was inaugurated almost three years ago and has proved very popular. The Kate Smith viewers are shown film scenes from the new movies and one or more of the stars from the pictures appear as Kate's guests.

The highly successful fashion shows will be continued on an intermittent basis this season along with other feminine features to be conducted by the singing star.

As in the past, the daily programs will be sparked by the personality of Miss Smith, whose outstanding singing voice and

WILLIAM BENDIX RETURNS TO NBC-TV AS STAR
OF 'LIFE OF RILEY' BEGINNING SEPT. 18

Popular Filmed Situation Comedy Starts Second Year

With William Bendix starring in the role of Chester A.

Riley, NBC-TV's situation comedy series, THE LIFE OF RILEY, will return to the air for the second year on Friday, Sept. 18 (8:30 p.m., EDT).

The first episode of the filmed series, "Riley's Stomach Ache," is by Harry Clork and concerns the always-hungry Riley who interprets a simple stomach ache as a fatal malady, and begins preparations for death.

Riley's suspicions that his stomachache is a terminal illness begin when he overhears the doctor telling his wife Peg (Marjorie Reynolds) about a sick cat. Riley, believing that the doctor is referring to him, jumps to his customary erroneous conclusions and forthwith involves the entire Riley family in a series of hectic crises.

Others in the cast, in addition to Miss Reynolds, a veteran film actress, are Lugene Sanders and Wesley Morgan, who play the Riley children, Babs and Junior. The Rileys' next-door neighbors, the Gillises, are Tom D'Andrea and Gloria Blondell.

"Riley," according to Bendix, "is just an ordinary citizen, trying to do the things thousands of his fellow-Americans are trying to do. Maybe he tries a little harder, makes more mistakes and does everything a little more the hard way than anyone else, but there lies the comedy appeal. There is a lot of wisdom in Riley's malapropisms and pet remarks."

"The Life of Riley" is produced by Tom McKnight and directed by Abby Berlin. The situation comedy series, which is sponsored by the Gulf Oil Corporation, takes over for the Fall season following the Summer series, "1st Person."

Young and Rubicam is the agency for the sponsor.

ALL NIGHT-TIME PERIODS BUT ONE SOLD ON NBC-TV NETWORK

New Business Disposes of Virtually All Night-Time
Available on Network for Commercial Sale

The SRO sign was hung out today for all night-time periods but one on the NBC television network.

New business announced by John K. Herbert, vice president in charge of television network sales, disposed of virtually every night-time network period available for commercial sale.

The sales were as follows:

Armour and Company and RCA Victor purchased the first half-hour (9:00-9:30 p.m.) of the Saturday night, 90-minute musical-variety extravaganza, "Your Show of Shows," as sponsors on alternating Saturdays.

RCA Victor purchased the 9:00-9:30 p.m. Monday period into which the Dennis Day program will be transferred from Friday nights.

The Pontiac Dealers of America purchased the 8:00-8:30 p.m. Friday period vacated by the Dennis Day program. Dave Garroway will be seen in this period in "The Dave Garroway Show," beginning in October. //

2 - Night Sales

R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. has purchased the 10:30-11:00 p.m. Sunday time spot and will sponsor "Man Against Crime," starring Ralph Bellamy, in that period, beginning Oct. 11.

Consolidated Royal Chemical Corp. has bought the 7:30-7:45 p.m. Monday period for sponsorship of "The Arthur Murray Dance Party," beginning Oct. 12.

An order is expected within the next few days for the last remaining night-time availability on NBC-TV, a 10-minute segment on the last half-hour of "Your Show of Shows."

Herbert also announced that Garroway, feature attraction on NBC-TV's "Today" program, has signed a new contract with NBC, extending his services to 1960. Garroway will continue on "Today," NBC's highly successful electronic morning newspaper, and also on his radio series, "Dial Dave Garroway," for Dial Soap, an Armour product.

The additional purchase by RCA Victor of the time on "Your Show of Shows," identifies that sponsor with two of the most popular properties on television to spearhead its Fall selling campaign. RCA Victor's messages about its complete line-up of products will be brought to an estimated 16,000,000 homes every two weeks on "Your Show of Shows" and the "Dennis Day Show."

To outline RCA Victor's plans in connection with "Your Show of Shows," a special closed circuit telecast was held Thursday, Sept. 10, with RCA Victor distributors watching in 40 key cities.

The Pontiac order marks a substantial increase in time purchases by General Motors and units of its family of NBC network facilities. General Motors is sponsoring the NCAA collegiate football games on NBC-TV this Fall. Buick sponsors Milton Berle. Chevrolet sponsors Dinah Shore. Oldsmobile is represented by a sports program preceding the Saturday football games, and Pontiac by a scoreboard review following the games. Herbert stated that Pontiac also has under consideration purchase of additional time on the "Today" program.

Herbert also announced that Garroway, former attraction on NBC-TV's "Today" program, has signed a new contract with NBC, extending his services to 1960. Garroway will continue on "Today," NBC's highly successful electronic morning newspaper, and also on his radio series, "Dial Dave Garroway," for Dial Soap, an Arnon product.

It is Pontiac's plan, Herbert revealed, to use Garroway for a unique "selling in depth" campaign. He will be more than an entertainer on the Pontiac program and will become in addition a highly publicized member of the Pontiac sales team. Garroway's folksy on-the-air style, his sincerity, and his down-to-earth approach suit him admirably for this new task.

By its purchase of time on "Your Show of Shows," Armour and Company is making its first entry into night-time network television. Long one of the major participants on the "Today" program, Armour further indicates its belief in the selling power of TV by its expansion into night-time TV.

Armour and RCA Victor purchased the time on "Your Show of Shows" for the full 39-week period. RCA Victor purchased the Monday night time for Dennis Day for 52 weeks. The Pontiac Dealers, R.J. Reynolds and Consolidated Royal Chemical also bought their respective time periods for 52 weeks.

Agencies involved in these sales were: Foote, Cone & Belding for Armour; J. Walter Thompson for RCA Victor; McManus, John and Adams of Detroit for Pontiac; William Esty Company, Inc., for R.J. Reynolds, and Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample, Inc., for Consolidated Royal Chemical.

The 7:30-7:45 p.m. time period, sold on Monday to Consolidated Royal Chemical Corp., is sold out the other four days of the week to the Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors Corp. and Chevrolet Dealers, sponsoring "The Dinah Shore Show" on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and the Coca-Cola Company, sponsoring "Coke Time with Eddie Fisher" on Wednesdays and Fridays.

TOSCANINI, OPENING NBC SYMPHONY SEASON NOV. 7,
 TO CONDUCT 14 CONCERTS DURING 1953-54
 GUIDO CANTELLI, SHARING PODIUM, WILL LEAD 8
 2-Part Broadcast of Verdi's 'Masked Ball'
 Will be Among Season's Highlights

Arturo Toscanini will open the seventeenth season of the NBC Symphony Orchestra on Saturday, Nov. 7 (NBC radio, 6:30 p.m., EST). The concerts will originate in New York's Carnegie Hall. Guido Cantelli will share the podium with Toscanini for the sixth successive season. Since Toscanini was on leave one year, during which he directed only several benefit concerts, this will be his sixteenth year as musical director of the orchestra formed especially for him in 1937.

Toscanini will direct 14 of the 22 concerts of the season and Cantelli will direct eight. This is the same number they conducted last season. Following are the dates for the 1953-54 season of the NBC Symphony Orchestra:

- Nov. 7, 14, 21, 28, Dec. 5 and 12.....Toscanini
- Dec. 19, 26, Jan. 2 and 9.....Cantelli
- Jan. 16 and 23.....Toscanini
- Jan. 30, Feb. 6, 13 and 20.....Cantelli
- Feb. 27, Mar. 6, 13, 20, 27 and Apr. 3.....Toscanini

(more)

Among the highlights that Toscanini has planned for this coming season will be a two-part concert performance of the opera "Un Ballo in Maschera" by Verdi, Brahms' "German Requiem," Zoltan Kodaly's "Psalmus Hungaricus," an all-Sibelius program, an all-Wagner program, Kabalevsky's "Cello Concerto," an all-Mendelssohn program and Strauss' "Don Quixote." Further details of programs will be announced later.

Cantelli has chosen music of contemporary and classical composers. Among the pieces programmed for his eight concerts are "Four Pieces" by Frescobaldi, "The Martyrdom of Saint Sebastian" by Debussy, "Symphony No. 7" by Schubert, "Concerto for Strings and Brass" by Hindemith, "Song of the Nightingale" by Stravinsky, "La Valse" by Ravel, and "Aria della Battaglia" by Gabrielli.

Toscanini is now in Italy, where he has spent the Summer months. He will return to the U.S probably in September to prepare for his coming season. This year he again will direct the NBC Symphony for a number of RCA Victor recordings. Among his recent releases are "The Pines of Rome" and "The Fountains of Rome" by Respighi and Verdi's opera "Otello," taken from the broadcast of several years ago.

Don Gillis again will be producer of the broadcasts and Art Small is scriptwriter. Ben Grauer is narrator.

Until the start of the 1953-54 season on Nov. 7 the NBC Summer Symphony concerts will continue. The broadcasts take place in Radio City with guest conductors. Scheduled as conductors for the remainder of the season are Samuel Antek, Sept. 20; Massimo Freccia, Sept 26 and Oct. 3; Peter Herman Adler, Oct. 10 and 17; and Jonel Perlea, Oct. 24 and 31.

(Note that the NBC Summer Symphony changes from Sunday at 5 p.m., EDT, to Saturdays at 6:30 p.m., EST, with the broadcast of Sept. 26).

'HALLMARK HALL OF FAME,' STARTING NEW SEASON, IS EXPANDED TO FULL-HOUR FORMAT, ORIGINATING IN HOLLYWOOD

Sarah Churchill to Star in 'Queen's Way' Sept. 27

When HALLMARK HALL OF FAME resumes on NBC-TV Sunday, Sept. 27, at 5 p.m., EDT, it will be expanded to a full hour show and will become the first sixty-minute network dramatic series to be produced "live" on the West Coast.

Sarah Churchill will return as hostess-narrator and occasional star of the series, with Albert McCleery named as executive producer as well as director. Facilities and equipment of NBC's ultra-modern Hollywood studios will be utilized to the fullest, McCleery stated, as will the unlimited pool of talent for which the cinema city is renowned. In addition to Miss Churchill's starring roles in selected attractions, she is also expected to play smaller parts in specific productions from time to time.

Present plans call for the first 13 programs to be telecast from Hollywood in entirety, with subsequent programs occasionally originating in New York. McCleery expects to take advantage of California's climate by utilizing outdoor shooting when the situation permits, especially in view of the fact that telecast time will be

While the Americana accent on great biographies, which were the keynote of the previous half-hour series, will be a conspicuous part of the expanded program, equal emphasis will be put on the great classics of literature. Some ambitious properties have been lined up for future scheduling by story editor Ethel Frank, while others are under consideration.

Miss Churchill will star in "Queen's Way," the opening show on Sept. 27. It is an original biographical drama about Catherine Parr, concerning the queen who outlived Henry VIII and who saved the lives of his children, including the future monarch, Elizabeth, during a time of terrible strife and dissension. It was written by Jennette and Francis Letton, authors of "The Young Elizabeth," a current London hit soon to be seen on Broadway.

Scheduled for Oct. 4 is a dramatization of Thomas Wolfe's monumental novel, "Of Time and the River," considered by many the most important work of one of the greatest American writers of this generation.

Under immediate consideration for future programs is such varied fare as Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid," adapted by Maurice Valency, with Sarah Churchill and Barry Jones as co-stars; a new play, especially commissioned for the program, "The Road to the Stars," written by Paul Vincent Carroll, one of the greatest living Irish playwrights, who wrote "Shadow and Substance" and "The White Steed";

"The Last Voyage," a story of Benjamin Franklin's mission to Paris, and "Never Kick a Man Upstairs," a story of Theodore Roosevelt, both originals by James Truex, are two of the biographical dramas contemplated. The Christmas telecast, as last year, calls for a repeat performance of Gian Carlo Menotti's charming Yuletide opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

CHARLES ISAACS, DURANTE WRITER, SIGNED AS A 'COMEDY HOUR' WRITER-DIRECTOR-PRODUCER BY NATIONAL BROADCASTING CO.

Charles Isaacs, head writer on the Durante shows of NBC-TV's COLGATE COMEDY HOUR, has been signed as a writer-director-producer for the network. //

Isaacs, 38, studied at the School of Journalism at the University of Minnesota. He has been writing professionally since 1935, when he wrote commercial film scenarios and was correspondent for a radio fan magazine.

He began writing for Hollywood--originated radio programs in 1937 and was assigned to many radio comedy and variety programs. He served in the Coast Guard from 1942-45 in the South Pacific. He then returned to writing radio scripts and, in 1950, worked as a writer of Eddie Cantor's first video show. He served in the same capacity for Jimmy Durante's first TV show and remained with Jimmy ever since.

Isaacs also has had movie editing jobs and wrote two books and two plays.

WORLD'S LARGEST VENETIAN BLIND NOW USED IN WINDOW OF 'TODAY' STREET STUDIO

The world's largest venetian blind now covers the upper two-thirds of the 27-foot-high windows of the RCA Exhibition Hall, on West 49th Street, New York.

Installed to solve the problem of lighting difficulties which faced the Dave Garroway "Today" show (Monday-Friday, 7 to 9 a.m., EDT and CDT), the blind gives engineers control of sunlight for ideal television conditions.

Operated by three electric motors, the blind is 88 feet long and 18 feet high. With controls in the television control room, it may be raised, lowered or tilted by remote control. The entire blind may be lowered and raised for cleaning.

Two buttons raise or lower the blind to any position, two more tilt it to any direction. A master switch throws a special lowering and hoisting arrangement for cleaning.

Twenty-nine stainless steel cables are required to hold it in place. A total of 140 slats, which laid end to end would extend two miles, and 31 tapes (a length of 186 yards) were used in the blind's construction.

JIMMY STEWART STARS IN NBC RADIO'S 'SIX SHOOTER,' WESTERN THRILLER WITH AN 'OFF-BEAT' APPROACH

Academy Award Winner's Series on Sunday Night Schedule

Jimmy Stewart, Academy Award-winning movie star, makes his series debut on NBC radio Sunday, Sept. 20 at 9:30 p.m. as the star of a new "off-beat" Western thriller entitled SIX SHOOTER.

In the new dramatic series, Stewart will portray Britt Ponset, a peaceful man by nature who has been forced by circumstance into the knowledge that survival depends on the "peace-maker" in his own holster, the six-shooter.

In the premiere story, "Jenny" Ponset observes the tragic consequences of a homely woman's search for love and affection when, scorned and ridiculed by ordinary men, she gives her love to a wounded outlaw and murderer. The killer dies of his wounds, but the woman must live with bitter memories. Harry Bartell will be

Willard Waterman Starts New Season in 'Gildy' Role

THE GREAT GILDERSLEEVE, starring Willard Waterman as the water commissioner of the mythical town of Summerfield, began its 13th year on the NBC radio network Sept. 9. It is presented Wednesdays (8:30 p.m., EDT) by the Kraft Foods Company, which has sponsored the "Gildy" show since its inaugural broadcast on Aug. 31, 1941.

Throckmorton P. Gildersleeve (Waterman), his nephew Leroy (Walter Tetley), his niece Marjorie (Marylee Robb) and his lovable housekeeper, Birdie (Lillian Randolph) comprise the household of the Gildersleeve family -- currently operating in two branches.

Marjorie, her husband Bronco (Dick Crenna) and their twins live next door to Gildersleeve. Bronco and the twins are additions, within the past three years, to the situation comedy series.

'MORE TRAVEL, MORE GOOD TIMES' PROMOTED BY TELEVISION
NBC'S F.W. WILE, JR., TELLS N. Y. STATE HOTELMEN

The fate of television is destined to be "inevitably entwined" with that of hotels, Frederic W. Wile Jr., NBC vice president in charge of networks production, told the annual convention of the New York State Hotel Association Saturday, Sept. 12, at Ausable, N.Y.

"Television today, despite its tender years, is already recognized as the strongest selling force that has ever become available," Wile said. "It is the almost indispensable marketing weapon."

He pointed out that because of television, there will be "more commercial travel, more pleasure travel, more good times -- the most pleasant words that can ring in the hotel man's ears."

As an example of how television influences people's thoughts about going places and doing things, Wile pointed to NBC-TV's recent telecast of Niagara Falls.

"As a viewer, this was a thrilling experience for me," he said. "Having heard about Niagara Falls all my life, but never having been there, I am now determined to make a visit. There is no question that we stimulated hundreds of thousands of people like me into seeing the Falls for themselves... The values of this type of indirect -- and, incidentally, 100 per cent free -- sales promotion, I am sure, will not escape hotel men."

NBC SCRIPTWRITER EARL HAMNER, JR., WRITES NOVEL,
'FIFTY ROADS TO TOWN,' TO BE PUBLISHED OCT. 2

Earl Hamner, Jr., whose first published work was a poem printed in the Richmond (Va.) Times Dispatch when he was seven, now has written a novel which will be published Oct. 2, by Random House, Inc.

Hamner, a staff script writer at NBC, has called his novel, "Fifty Roads to Town." It is the story of an itinerant evangelist who comes to a small town in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia. His impact on the villagers brings about violent changes in several lives, some tragic, some romantic.

Hamner, 30, knows this area well for he was born there and lived there through high school. He was a student at the University of Richmond when he was drafted. He served three years in the Army, then studied radio writing at Northwestern University and the College of Music of Cincinnati.

Hamner was a radio writer at a Cincinnati station before going to New York where he wrote radio scripts for an advertising agency. He joined the NBC scriptwriting staff in May of 1950 and since then has written for many of the network's major programs.

He wrote "The City," an original documentary for video, has done several original short plays for "The Kate Smith Hour," has written poetry for a radio series, "In the Still of the Night," the commentary read by Eva Le Gallienne on the "New Theatre" series and many adaptations for the "Best Plays" radio series.

FIFTY YEARS TO TOWN, TO BE PUBLISHED OCT. 2

Earl Hammer, Jr., whose first published work was a novel printed in the Richmond (Va.) Times Dispatch when he was a teen, has written a novel which will be published Oct. 2, by Random House, Inc. Hammer, a staff writer at NBC, has called his novel "Fifty Roads to Town." It is the story of an immigrant event which comes to a small town in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia. His impact on the villagers brings about a change in government, lives, some tragic, some romantic.

Hammer, 30, knows this area well for he was born there and lived there through high school. He was a student at the University of Richmond when he was drafted. He served three years in the Army, then studied radio writing at Northwestern University and the University of Miami of Cincinnati.

Hammer was a radio writer at a Cincinnati station before coming to New York where he wrote radio scripts for an advertisement agency. He joined the NBC scriptwriting staff in May of 1950 and since then has written for many of the network's major programs. He wrote "The Day," an original commentary for video, and several original short plays for "The Mike Keith Hour." He has written poetry for a radio series, "In the Still of the Night," and commentary read by Eve Le Gallienne on the New Theatre, and had many adaptations for the "Beat Plays" radio series.

NBC FILM DIVISION

SALES OF SYNDICATED FILM PROPERTIES ARE TRIPLED
BY NBC FILM DIVISION IN FIRST SIX MONTHS
AS SEPARATE OPERATING DIVISION

The NBC Film Division has tripled its sales of syndicated film properties during the first six months as a separate operating division of the company, Robert W. Sarnoff, vice president in charge of the division, announced today.

Established on March 3, 1953 as one of NBC's three major operating divisions, the NBC Film Division has expanded its inventory of programs and its many services both to TV stations and to local and regional advertisers in the last six months.

"We believe that the growth of the Film Division and its successful operation are based on two fundamental concepts," Sarnoff said in summing up the first six months. "First, the high quality of the programs which we have offered for local and regional sponsorship; and second, the emphasis which we have placed on sound business practices in the new and relatively chaotic TV film industry."

Sarnoff noted that the Film Division has increased its inventory of syndicated film properties from two to 13, among them several outstanding programs which ran originally on the network.

"The quality of the Film Division programs," Sarnoff said, "is attested to by the fact that the former network series now being

2 - Six Months Report

syndicated by the Film Division had an average network rating of 37.2 during the past September-June season, according to Nielsen, against an average of 26.1 for all Nielsen-rated evening network programs."

The programs to which Sarnoff referred are "Badge 714" (seen on the network as "Dragnet"), "Captured" (formerly "Gangbusters") and "The Visitor" (formerly "The Doctor.>").

Another program previously seen on the NBC-TV network and now being syndicated by the Film Division is the widely acclaimed "Victory at Sea" series. Shown in a Sunday afternoon time period, "Victory at Sea" had, next to football, the highest rating ever attained in that period. Since the conclusion of its eminently successful network run last May, "Victory" has already been syndicated in 56 markets.

Sarnoff also noted that by this Fall "Dangerous Assignment," produced expressly for Film Division syndication, will have been seen in 128 cities, while the hour-long "Hopalong Cassidy" films will have been seen in 126. The largest number of cities ever to be carried by a network program is 115, Sarnoff said.

"A stable price structure for all our properties, along with the emphasis we have placed on re-running successful film series," Sarnoff said, "are prime concerns in the establishment of sound business practices in the film-syndication field. We believe that the Film Division has made a significant contribution in this area."

Stressing the need for quality film programming on the local-station level, Sarnoff noted that the re-run makes possible the local showing -- at a local cost -- of programs of the highest quality.

"Although the industry is already a multimillion dollar business," Sarnoff said, "much of this investment remains to be recovered. Few film series today can recover all costs on their initial run. It is impossible for a really fine film series to do so."

3 - Six Months Report

Sarnoff cited the rapid growth of the television audience and the fact that literally millions of viewers miss even the highest-rated episodes of the highest-rated series on the first run, to substantiate the validity of the re-run practice. He also pointed out that many film series get higher ratings on subsequent showings than on the original run.

"Long-range plans of the Film Division," Sarnoff said, "include the development of an inventory of programs and film services which will help television stations and local advertisers throughout the country to fill in their programming requirements."

Sarnoff pointed out that TV stations have carried around 23,000 hours of Film Division properties, representing 47,000,000 feet of film. Six stations in major cities have carried 11 of the 13 Film Division programs, while many other stations have carried more than eight. One station in Texas will be carrying eight NBC Film Division series simultaneously this Fall.

Among the projects developed in the past six months is the unique plan whereby 26 new, full-length feature films -- none of which has ever before been shown on television -- are being made available to stations and advertisers.

The NBC Film Division's first group of feature films, more than half of which were produced since 1950, includes such outstanding hits as "No Orchids for Miss Blandish" and "The Glass Mountain," and features such stars as Claude Rains, Valentina Cortesa, Martita Hunt, Francis L. Sullivan and many other performers of international fame.

The feature films have all been screened and approved by the NBC Continuity Acceptance Department to conform with the NARTB Code, and therefore require no editing by the local station for reasons of morality or public acceptance.

"Inner Sanctum," a new series of 39 dramas filmed in New York by Galahad Productions, is about to be made available for syndication by the NBC Film Division. Nine "Inner Sanctum" films -- produced with the latest innovations in TV film techniques and featuring such distinguished players as Ernest Truex, Paul Stewart and Everett Sloane -- are now completed.

"We have vastly expanded our Film Library, editing and distribution servies," Sarnoff said. The Library, which stores 18,000,000 feet of minutely cross-indexed film, has increased its sales to outside clients by 186%, while NBC producers used the library 221% more than in the same period a year ago.

The film editors have increased their work output by almost 90%, Sarnoff said, with special techniques having been adapted to the several pre-recorded kinescopes of NBC television network programs now on the air.

NBC's New York Film Exchange, which a year ago serviced 76 affiliates with 725 prints a week (including kinescopes of live network programs, network film programs and NBC Film Division syndicated film properties), now services 124 affiliates and many independent TV stations in the U.S. and foreign countries with 1,114 prints a week.

5 - Six Months Report

During its first six months of growth, the NBC Film Division also measurably augmented its sales, advertising and publicity staffs. The Grey Advertising Agency, noted for its brilliant merchandising techniques, was retained by the Division.

"At the end of six months," Sarnoff said, "we find ourselves at a unique vantage point from which we are now able to accomplish two important aims:

"First, to provide the best possible programming for local TV stations throughout the country; and second, to provide the local advertiser with a complete campaign of publicity, advertising, promotion, merchandising and exploitation designed not only to build a local audience for the program but also to stimulate the sale of the sponsor's product. It is only by fusing quality programming with sound business practices that we have been able to reach these goals."

Network's Top News and Feature Names to Participate Carefully documented news analyses by veteran war and diplomatic correspondents, remote pick-ups from the actual scene of important news developments domestically and overseas, commentary on the American scene by a famous novelist, Hollywood gossip and fashions and intelligence on home-making are among the colorful and dramatic features to be included in WEEKEND, NBC's new two-hour radio newspaper-of-the-air scheduled for Sunday afternoon production between 4 and 6 p.m., EST, with the opening presentation set for Sunday, Oct. 4.

The program is divided into a series of 15-minute segments corresponding to the "pages" of a Sunday newspaper. Opening on a spot news broadcast by Merrill Mueller, the network's noted foreign correspondent and commentator, the program will switch to Washington for a pick-up by Earl Godwin, who will turn back the pages of history in a series of reminiscences. Godwin will be followed by two well-known columnists, Earl Wilson of the New York Post, and Igor Cassini, of the New York Journal-American, alternating weekly with Broadway gossip and theatrical news.

Another "page" in the radio newspaper will give listeners a commentary by the novelist Fannie Hurst on the American scene, to be followed by the "ideas department" in which specialists tell "how to make it yourself" for homemakers.

Tex McCrary will present the "cover story," devoting his quarter-hour to outstanding personalities. His "firsts" are expected to be Charles Laughton and Mary Martin, stage-and-screen stars.

A musical interlude comprising two hit tunes and a prediction of the "hit tune to come" by Ed Herlihy, "Weekend's" editor and master of ceremonies, will be followed with "Overseas Ticker," the foreign news department. This will include remote pick-ups, with NBC correspondents in London, Paris, Bonn, Rome, Tokyo and other cities, interviewing national figures and "ordinary people."

The second section of the "newspaper" will present a report from Hollywood by Florabelle Muir; fashions and other items of interest to women by Jinx Falkenburg McCrary; economic and political predictions and trends in the nation's capital by Elmo Roper; "Critic at Large," appraisal of the latest in art and literature by Leon Pearson; sports review by Mel Allen, and other specials based on the news developments of the week.

One of the unique features of "Weekend" will be "Forecase," in which NBC foreign correspondents send Mueller their predictions of developments in their particular areas, based upon their knowledge of the inside story, the problems involved and the personalities. Another is "Folklore," in which Duncan Emerick of the Library of Congress digs into the rich cultural heritage of America's past for stories of American life.

3 - 'Weekend'

Plans are being made to adapt a popular NBC youth program originating in Hartford, Conn., "Mind Your Manners," for "Weekend" presentation in a segment titled "Young America." This show will consist of comment by a selected group of youthful students on issues of the day.

In charge of planning and production is Merrill Mueller, news and features executive for NBC radio, who will also give the spot news reviews in "Weekend." Although only 37, Mueller has had 22 years of experience. He covered most of the major news developments during the past eight years, including the crucial campaigns in World War II both in Europe and the Pacific, and the Korean War.

The over-all editor of "Weekend" is Herlihy, who joined the staff of NBC in 1935 and has risen in his profession to become one of the outstanding personalities in the industry. Herlihy enjoys emceeing shows which are based upon a public service idea, and "Weekend" fills that bill. He has served as emcee and announcer for such shows as "Truth or Consequences," "Music Hall," "Pleasure Time" and "The Kraft Television Theatre."

Assistant producer is Arthur Wakelee, NBC staffer for the past ten years, who has had considerable experience on news and special event shows for the network.

BOB HOPE RETURNS FOR NEW SEASON OF NIGHTTIME COMEDY SHOWS ON NBC RADIO, WITH PHIL HARRIS AS FIRST GUEST

Bob (Dairyman) Hope will greet Phil "Curly" Harris as his guest star when THE BOB HOPE SHOW begins its new season of nighttime comedy programs on a new day and for a new sponsor on the NBC radio network Friday, Sept. 25 (8:30 p.m., EDT).

Hope will start his 16th consecutive year on the NBC radio network. The new nighttime series will be sponsored by the American Dairy Association. The comic is also heard regularly on a five-a-week daytime show on NBC radio and will appear once a month on NBC-TV starting late in October.

On the first show of the new nighttime series, Hope, with the aid of Harris, will make every effort to impress his new sponsor. In an attempt to learn about the dairy business, the pair visit a "dairymen's outing" and enter a cow-milking contest with amusing results.

2 - Bob Hope Returns

Singing star Margaret Whiting, Les Brown and his "band of renown," and announcer Bill Goodwin will be featured again this year on the Hope nighttime series.

Bob's brother, Jack Hope, will produce the shows, which will be written by Norman Sullivan and Chuck Stewart. Agency for the American Dairy Association is Campbell-Mithun, Inc.

Hope has been a nighttime comedy headliner on NBC radio since he started his own series Sept. 27, 1938. He first broke into radio in 1932 as a guest on NBC's Rudy Vallee program. Then he appeared in guest spots and short sponsored series, until he hit his stride with his own show, which for years has rated among the top programs in radio.

The comedian started his career in his "adopted" Cleveland, Ohio, where the Hope family lived after their arrival from their native England. Hope is now a naturalized American citizen. He broke into showbusiness, after a variety of small jobs, when he teamed with a young friend in a vaudeville act in which Hope danced, sang and performed various odd jobs. During an engagement Hope was asked to announce the following week's bill. He gagged the announcement with funny remarks of his own and the appreciative laughter of the audience determined his future career as a comedian.

He has many top pictures to his credit and has also starred in Broadway musicals including "Ballyhoo," "Ziegfeld Follies" and "Red, Hot and Blue." Hope made his TV debut over NBC on Easter Sunday, 1950, and has since been one of the medium's leading personalities.

'PHIL HARRIS-ALICE FAYE SHOW' STARTS SEVENTH YEAR ON NBC RADIO; PHIL DOUBLES AS SERIES' PRODUCER

Situation Comedy Brings Noted Hollywood Couple Back
To Air With Familiar Group of Supporting Players

One of Hollywood's best-known man-and-wife teams --

Phil Harris and Alice Faye -- will return to NBC radio Friday, Sept. 25 at 9 p.m., EDT, when the PHIL HARRIS-ALICE FAYE SHOW begins its seventh year. The series was previously heard Sunday nights.

The domestic situation comedy series is based on the home life of the irrepressible Phil and the level-headed Alice, whose married life is marked by a series of hilarious complications -- most of which result from Phil's contacts with his raffish friends. The Harrises have two children, Baby Alice (Jeanine Roose) and Phyllis (Anne Whitfield), and aid and abet their father in his meanderings -- as does his chief friend and cohort Elliot Lewis (formerly known as Frankie Remley).

The series (which bears little resemblance to the normal, sane life led by the off-stage Harrises) revolves about Phil's approach to living which is -- to put it mildly -- unusual. With the best

The first part of the report deals with the general situation in the country. It is found that the economy is in a state of depression and that the government is unable to meet its obligations. The report also mentions that the population is suffering from poverty and that the government is unable to provide for their needs.

The second part of the report deals with the financial situation of the country.

It is found that the government has a large deficit and that the public debt is increasing. The report also mentions that the government is unable to raise revenue and that the public is suffering from inflation. intentions in the world, he is able to involve himself, his family, his friends, his furniture and his relatives in highly precarious positions.

One of the most obvious proofs that Phil Harris in real life is a level-headed businessman with a keen sense of the proper value of important matters (two characteristics totally lacking from the character he portrays in the series) is that Phil is now producer of the program, as well as half the star billing. Others in the cast include John Hubbard as Alice's brother, William; Walter Tetley as Julius Abruzzio, and Sheldon Leonard as Grogan.

"The Phil Harris-Alice Faye Show" will be directed by Karl Gruener and Frances Purcell with Walter Scharf as musical director. Bill Forman is the announcer for the program which is sponsored by the RCA Victor Division of the Radio Corporation of America.

J. Walter Thompson Company is the agency for the RCA Victor Division.

'WELCOME TRAVELERS' TV SHOW TO TAKE NEW
MONDAY TIME SPOT STARTING SEPT. 21

Host Tommy Bartlett will welcome travelers a half-hour later on NBC-TV's WELCOME TRAVELERS program beginning Monday, Sept. 21, when the show moves to the 4 p.m., EDT, time period (Mondays through Fridays). The series is currently presented at 3:30 p.m., EDT.

The television version of "Welcome Travelers," which marked its first anniversary on the air Sept. 8, presents the same format which has been successful for the radio show since 1949. Bartlett, assisted by co-host Bob Cunningham, chats with guest travelers screened by the interviewing staff from the large audience attending the morning radio version or the previous day's television show. Occasional guest celebrities also visit the program.

"Welcome Travelers" on TV originates in Chicago, at the NBC Studebaker Theatre studio, which was remodeled to accommodate a large audience. The setting simulates the decor of the College Inn Porterhouse Room at Chicago's Hotel Sherman, from where the radio program originates. Bartlett and Cunningham table-hop in their interviews and, after hearing the stories the travelers have to tell, award appropriate gifts.

During the show's first year on television, 98,500 fans visited the NBC studio in the Studebaker Theatre. Of that number more than 2,500 of the visitors were interviewed before the cameras by Bartlett and Cunningham.

While a coast-to-coast TV audience watched, these travelers told their personal stories -- of happiness, sorrow, courage. There were joyous moments, such as the day a childless couple got their first look at their newly adopted baby daughter -- the first child to be adopted in the Chicago area for 1953.

There were moments of stark tragedy as two mothers from Wisconsin broadcast a nationwide plea to a kidnaper to return their children unharmed, and when a cancer victim calmly told how he planned to spend his few remaining months of life.

Two other mothers wept for joy as they heard first-hand news about their sons in a Korean prison camp from a just-released fellow prisoner of war. Viewers also saw a piece of paper with a man's life written on it -- a pardon from a death sentence. Travelers requiring aid got help from the show in the form of financial aid, transportation tickets or much needed gifts of furniture and household appliances.

Executive producer of the TV "Welcome Travelers" is Tom O'Connell of Dancer-Fitzgerald and Sample, agency for the sponsor, Procter and Gamble Co. The series is directed by Don Meier.

NBC RADIO SETS UP ITS OWN ADVERTISING AND PROMOTION DEPARTMENT TO ALLOW FOR SPECIALIZED CONCENTRATION

Establishment of the NBC Radio Network Advertising and Promotion Department, as a further step to allow for specialized concentration on serving the requirements of the recently separated radio and TV networks, was announced today by Ted Cott, operating vice president of the radio network.

Director of the new department will be Ridgway Hughes, who brings a broad background of media promotion to his new position of responsibility for plotting and guiding NBC radio's expanded promotion efforts for 1953-54.

With NBC and in other capacities, Hughes has known and worked with top executives of radio and other media for many years. He joined NBC early in 1953, as sales promotion manager for radio and television. Prior experience includes director of presentations for ABC, promotion manager for Look Magazine and Fortune Magazine, and account manager with McCann-Erickson.

The new Radio Network Advertising and Promotion Department will be staffed largely by veteran NBC employees, experienced executives, writers and artists with wide backgrounds in radio.

2 - Advertising Promotion

Key members of the Radio Network Advertising and Promotion Department team are:

James Nelson, former advertising manager for radio and TV, who has been named advertising manager for radio. With NBC for more than 10 years, Nelson has held a variety of executive positions in the Advertising and Promotion Department since he started in radio spot sales promotion.

Robert Hitchens, former supervisor of networks sales promotion, has been named sales promotion manager. Hitchens has been with NBC since July, 1951, as radio sales promotion writer, sales promotion supervisor for radio, and networks sales promotion supervisor. Before that he was a copy chief on WEEK in Peoria, Ill., and copy chief and program director of WNAO of Raleigh, N.C.

Carl Dorese, former supervisor of daytime TV sales promotion, has been named program sales promotion manager. With NBC since June of this year, Dorese before that was presentation writer for George Foley, Inc., producer of TV commercials for J. Walter Thompson, assistant producer for William H. Weintraub and a writer for Robert Ripley.

Thaine Engle, former supervisor of TV audience promotion, has been named audience promotion supervisor for the radio network. Engle came to NBC in March, 1953, after 14 years with WBAP (AM, FM and TV) Fort Worth, Texas. When he left the Texas station he was director of promotion, publicity and merchandising. Before that he had been with WIBW, Topeka, Kan., and KCKN, Kansas City, Kan.

Other appointments in the new department are:

Walter Van Bellen, art director; Frank McMahon, copy supervisor; Frank Macaulay, air promotion supervisor; Walter Duncan, sales presentation writer; Walter Einsel, artist; Lucy Towle, supervisor of public affairs promotion, and John Halloran, audience promotion writer.

NBC TO TELECAST WORLD SERIES FOR 7th CONSECUTIVE YEAR WITH GILLETTE AS SPONSOR

Mel Allen and Red Barber to Describe Games

For the seventh consecutive year, the National Broadcasting Company will telecast baseball's annual classic, the World Series, under sponsorship of the Gillette Safety Razor Company.

This second straight Series meeting of the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers again will be described by Mel Allen and Red Barber, two of the nation's most popular sportscasters.

The Series will begin on Wednesday, Sept. 30, at Yankee Stadium. The telecasts will start at 12:45 p.m., EDT; game time is 1:05 p.m. If the Series extends beyond four games, which appears quite probable, the telecast of the Sunday game will begin at 1:45 p.m., with game time set for 2:05 p.m. //

In finishing at the top of the American League standings, 13 games in front of the Cleveland Indians, the Yankees became the first team ever to win five major league pennants in a row. Likewise their leader, the colorful Casey Stengel, was the first major league manager to achieve this feat. This is the twentieth flag captured by the Yankees, which is another record.

Coincidentally, the Dodgers finished 13 games ahead of the second-place Milwaukee Braves in wrapping up the National League pennant on Sept. 12, the earliest clinching date in modern N.L. history. The pennant won by Manager Chuck Dressen's ball club was the tenth in Brooklyn history.

PEACE ON MIRTH! DAVE GARROWAY RETURNS TO EVENING TV WITH HIS FAMED CASUAL FORMAT OF FUN, MUSIC, VARIETY

Dave Garroway will return to evening television on NBC-TV Friday, Oct. 2 (8:00 to 8:30 p.m., EST) with a new music and variety program, THE DAVE GARROWAY SHOW, sponsored by Pontiac Motors.

The format will contain similar highlights to the "Garroway at Large" NBC offering of two years ago. Garroway will wander through the show, introducing the acts in his famed casual manner. There will be no studio audience; the new show will be played -- as was the old one -- to none but the viewer in the living room.

There'll be boy and girl singers and a dance act on "The Dave Garroway Show," but these have not been selected as yet. However, Cliff Norton, who handled comedy chores on "Garroway at Large," has been signed and will definitely be part of the show.

Charles Andrews, who wrote the program of two years ago, returns to write and produce the new show. Skitch Henderson will be the music director.

'RCA VICTOR SHOW STARRING DENNIS DAY'
RETURNS TO NBC-TV ON NEW MONDAY NIGHT SCHEDULE

Singing Comedian Will Have Old Pals in Cast

A major TV series moves to a Monday time-spot on the NBC schedule when the RCA VICTOR SHOW STARRING DENNIS DAY has its Fall premiere Oct. 5 (9 p.m., EST). The program was previously presented on Fridays. + (last paragraph)

On the first show, Dennis becomes involved with an ardent admirer -- an elderly lady named Lavinia. The singing comedian returns to his apartment from a personal appearance tour to find that his elderly fan is waiting for him. Frantically, Dennis calls his friend Charley Weaver (Cliff Arquette), superintendent of the building, to help him evict his visitor.

Dennis and Charley both attempt to persuade Lavinia (Ida Moore) to leave but their efforts are futile. Before Dennis is through, he finds he has a new housekeeper.

Long acclaimed as one of television's most versatile performers -- not only as a singer but as a comedian and impersonator--Day has been the star of his own series for the past two years.

(more)

"Regulars" on the series are Arquette in the role of the good natured but slightly pixilated building superintendent, seven-year-old Jeri Lou James as Susan, Dennis' youngest admirer, and Carol Richards as Marian, the current object of Dennis' affections. Veteran movie character actress Ida Moore has been signed to appear on five of the programs for the Fall series.

The half-hour situation comedy series revolves around the life of Dennis, a young bachelor singer, and the colorful tenants who live in a typical Hollywood apartment house.

Production is under the supervision of Joe Bigelow. The series is produced by Paul Henning and written by Henning and Stanley Shapiro. Associate producer is John McNulty and music is under the direction of Charles "Bud" Dant.

"The RCA Victor Show Starring Dennis Day" is sponsored by the RCA Victor Division of the Radio Corporation of America through the J. Walter Thompson Company agency.

V.P. in Charge of TV Network Sales Addresses Bureau
Of Appliances Conference in San Diego

Television today is booming more on the West Coast than in any other section of the country, John K. Herbert, NBC vice president in charge of television network sales, told the Fall Conference of the Bureau of Appliances at San Diego, Calif., Wednesday night, Sept. 16.

At the same time, Herbert pointed out that "Hollywood and the West Coast have barely begun to realize their potential in television -- either as a place for the origination of programs or as a market for TV sets."

"There are now more than 3,000,000 television sets in the markets served by these 21 Western TV stations, and, as you know, this figure is growing every day," Herbert said. "Already the West has some 12 per cent of the television sets in the entire nation. This percentage is bound to become more and more impressive as time goes by, for most Eastern and Midwestern cities have had television for a number of years, while many major cities in the West have either had no television at all or have had only one station."

Citing reasons for the bright future of TV on the West Coast, Herbert said:

V.P. IN CHARGE OF TV NETWORK SALES ADDRESS

OF APPLIANCE CONFERENCE IN SAN DIEGO

Television sales to home owners on the West Coast are in other sections of the country. John H. Harbo, NBC vice president in charge of television network sales, told the West Coast section of the conference at San Diego, Calif., Wednesday night.

At the same time, Harbo pointed out that television sales to home owners have barely begun to realize their potential in the West -- either as a place for the enjoyment of programming or as a market for TV sets.

"There are now more than 2,000,000 television sets in the West," Harbo said. "Although the West is growing every day," Harbo said, "television sales in the West are still far behind those in the East. This percentage is bound to become more and more important as time goes by, for more Eastern and Midwestern cities have had television for a number of years, while many major cities in the West have only had television for a few years."

"The Coast will be a great origination point for programs because of the tremendous pool of name talent and technical and artistic know-how in Hollywood.

"It will be a great market for sets because of the great pool of just plain people -- more of them coming every day -- who must have a television set. We are just getting started -- I need not remind you that color, a whole new dimension -- is just around the corner.

SARNOFF SEES HORIZONS OF SERVICE FOR RADIO
BEING WIDENED BY NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN SCIENCE

Chairman of the Boards of RCA-NBC at NBC Radio Affiliates Meeting
Says That Millions of Pocket-Size Radios Using Transistors
Will Vastly Enlarge Radio Audience by Opening a "Personal" Era in Broadcasting - He Calls for Strong, Solvent Radio Network Service as A Vital National Asset

FOR RELEASE AT 4 P.M., EDT

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 - A new era of progress for the National Broadcasting Company's radio network was opened today by network officials meeting with representatives of affiliated stations for a full scale review of new radio program development and sales plans.

The broadcasters, meeting at the Drake Hotel, were given a glimpse of new horizons for radio by Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, Chairman of the Boards of Radio Corporation of America and the National Broadcasting Company, who spoke of present developments in the RCA Laboratories that will lead to the manufacture and use of tiny personal pocket and wrist radios. Such technical developments as these miniature sets, he predicted, will create new radio audiences for the future. He outlined NBC's goals of leadership in radio and its plans for utilizing new opportunities offered by evolutionary changes within the industry.

Frank M. Folsom, president of RCA, and other RCA-NBC officials attended the company's first meeting with the newly organized NBC Radio Affiliates Committee.

General Sarnoff was presented to the group by Robert D. Swezey, executive vice-president and general manager of WDSU, New Orleans, La., and Chairman of the Affiliates' Committee.

"Besides creating new program approaches to meet changing listening habits, we can also develop new audiences through scientific progress," said General Sarnoff. "For example, tiny radio sets -- no bigger than a wallet and ultimately a wristwatch -- would advance the use of personal radios, and thereby greatly enlarge the total radio audience.

"Such miniature radio sets are not a fantasy. At our laboratories we are working on the use of transistors as one of the applications of electronics-in-solids. The prototype of the tiny personal radio is already in existence. The miniature radio will reach out to bring radio to everyone everywhere, opening up new types of personal entertainment and information services. Pocket and wrist radio sets will become standard equipment for millions of people. Far from being a victim, radio is a beneficiary of science and technical progress.

"I for one will not cast a vote of 'no confidence' in the future of radio," said General Sarnoff. "I am convinced that there is and that there will continue to be a large audience and substantial advertising revenue for a national radio service.

This does not mean that the field is unlimited, or that everyone in it is sure to survive. I believe, however, that the field will remain large enough to support those networks which possess basic strength, a true sense of their obligations to the public, and a capacity to adapt themselves to the new facts of life.

"I do not see the picture in radio as one of unrelieved gloom. Neither do I look upon it with the bubbling optimism that has characterized some public statements on the subject -- as if resolute cheerfulness would solve all problems. Instead, I recognize that basic changes have taken place and are continuing to take place, and that they disturb the old patterns of this medium. Those changes have created new problems for radio, some of them real with menace, others exaggerated by unjustified jitters.

"But these new problems also point to new directions that radio must follow. If these directions are opened up without too much delay and are developed boldly, radio stations can continue to operate at a substantial profit, and a profitable network operation is also possible."

General Sarnoff pointed out that the number of radio sets in use is constantly increasing and radio listening is more widely dispersed throughout the home and outside the home. He called attention to the fact that in the first 34 weeks of 1953 more than 8,488,000 radio sets were sold in the United States, as compared with 6,519,000 during the same period in 1952 -- an increase of almost two million radio sets in the past year.

"For the past several years," he said, "more and more radio sets have been bought. They are going into bedrooms, kitchens, playrooms and bathrooms. They take the form of automobile radios and portable sets. Family listening is giving way to individual listening.

"In the first half of this year, the output of automobile sets almost equalled the full year's production of automobile radios in 1952. Sales of clock-radios are now higher than they were last year, and since 1947 almost half of all the radio sets sold were automobile sets, portables and clock-radios."

In calling attention to this vast new audience for radio, General Sarnoff decried the emphasis on program ratings, pointing out that the rating system leaves out of reckoning over 5,000,000 homes with three sets or more. It ignores listening to 5,000,000 sets in public places, millions of portable sets and more than 26,000,000 automobile sets. "In short," he said, "radio is judged on ratings that have lost touch with the realities of the medium."

Ratings not only fail to measure the true size of the radio audiences, General Sarnoff said, but they do not even undertake to indicate the quality and influence of the medium, and concentration on this limited quantitative standard has led to a failure to recognize radio's real values.

As examples of evils resulting from this situation, General Sarnoff cited the "nostalgic" tendency to devalue radio by comparing the size of its audience today with what it was in the past, instead of comparing radio with other media available today, in terms of their relative cost and effectiveness. He also called attention to the preoccupation with top-rated programs and the failure to give adequate recognition to the composition and influence of audiences to particular programs.

"Ratings, today, simply do not reflect the real audience," he continued. "They are certainly not conclusive on the essence of the matter, which is the ratio between listening and sales. We have found cases where competing advertisers were getting about the same ratings, but where one of the programs produced many more customers than the other. And we have also found cases where competing advertisers were getting about the same sales effectiveness from their programs, although one had a much lower rating than the other!"

As evidence of NBC's real leadership of the industry, General Sarnoff referred to its establishment of the first radio network, creation of great public service programs, development of black-and-white television, pioneering in UHF and developing and fighting for the adoption of compatible color television, all with earnest support from the RCA. Such achievements in leadership are practical evidence of NBC's basic strength and adaptability which will enable it to realize the potentials of radio's future. With the cooperation of its affiliates, NBC will lead the way with new paths for further development of network radio, offering a wider diversity of programs and advertising opportunities, he said.

The importance of maintaining strong and solvent radio networks was stressed by General Sarnoff. Apart from their direct values to affiliated stations and the public stature they give broadcasting as a whole, the national network services are essential to the maintenance of democracy and security, he pointed out.

"Local services are important to the community," continued General Sarnoff. "But does anyone think that radio could have become such a basic part of American life if it had been restricted to these local services? Does anyone believe that broadcasting would retain its stature with the public if network services were not maintained?"

"It was easy access to nationally known performers, to great orchestras and great drama, to the products of nationwide and worldwide news organizations -- in sum, to the network offerings -- that made broadcasting indispensable to people throughout our land. Americans became dependent on broadcasting because network services brought them instantly the great events and issues and personalities of the day and the hour.

"Our national democracy is geared to immediate and direct availability of a national audience," he said. "This is dramatically obvious in a Presidential election campaign and in wartime, but it holds true at all times. One of the central problems in this age of peril is that of continuous contact between our citizenry and its Government. Only broadcasting can alert the entire nation instantaneously and simultaneously in time of danger. Subtract the nationwide network system, and these all-important factors for democracy and security are lost.

values as utilized stations and the public stations and the in the maintenance of democracy and security, he pointed out.

 "Local services are important to the community," continued General Bennett. "But does anyone think that radio could have become such a basic part of American life if it had been restricted to the local market? The answer is no. The national network would retain its stature with the public if national services were not maintained."
 "It was easy to see to maintain a national network, for great orchestras and great drama, for the pleasure of millions and worldwide news organizations -- in sum, for the national audience -- that made broadcasting indispensable to people everywhere.
 And American became dependent on broadcasting for its network services brought them. Certainly the great events and local and personalities of the day and the hour.
 "Our national democracy is based on immediate and direct availability of a national audience," he said. "This is essential ally obvious in a Presidential election campaign and in national but it holds true at all times. One of the central functions of this age of radio is that of continuous contact between the citizenry and its Government. Only broadcasting can do this.
 This nation necessarily has been dependent in time of war against the national network system and the national interest for democracy and security are at stake."

"Under such circumstances, would Government have any alternative but to step in and provide its own national service? If free enterprise should fail in this aspect of broadcasting, it will be endangered in all other aspects. Let there be no illusions on that score. The very existence of the industry on a competitive free-enterprise basis would be jeopardized.

"And let us reflect also on the role networks play in the economics of all station operations. Because one independent station in a community is thriving on 'music and news,' some folks assume that all stations could do likewise. They forget that such a station siphons off the major portion of a highly specialized audience. In most communities, such a specialized audience is not large enough to support more than one or two radio stations.

"Strong and solvent networks," General Sarnoff declared, "are essential to healthy station operation. As in any industry in time of transition, we can look for the survival of the fittest. But in an industry like ours, which rests on 'public interest, convenience and necessity,' the tests of fitness are highly exacting. They certainly do not include policies of expediency, flash performance, talent piracy, or the kind of practices which focus on today and ignore tomorrow. The real tests of fitness of a radio network's capacity for leadership are its far-sighted concern for the well-being of the industry as a whole, its deep roots in the field of public service, and its record for fair play in relation both to its associates and the industry at large.

"Those who have built for the future, who have laid a program and sales base of permanent value, will have the staying power. Those who operate for temporary expediency, no matter how flamboyantly, will be conquered by problems for which further expediency will hold no solutions.

"I underscore these points because it seems to me desirable at the present crossroads of our industry's history to underline the difference between a responsible leadership that builds permanent values for itself, its associates and the entire industry, and a claimed leadership that rests on opportunism and concentrates on the short-term private gain, regardless of consequences to the future of the business.

"Broadcasting is not a finished art or industry and it will never be static," concluded General Sarnoff. "Nor is the promise of the future limited to television. It extends to all applications of the electronics art, and it certainly extends to radio. The transistor development is only one of the possibilities for radio. Scientific invention can also be matched by imagination and creation in programming, in selling, in operating more economically, and in finding ways for networks and affiliates to progress on a basis that will be profitable and satisfactory to both."

NBC, General Sarnoff told the affiliates, is in business for the long-range opportunities, concerned with creating permanent values for its employees, for its affiliates, for the RCA, and for the nation.

Prior to General Sarnoff's keynote address, the affiliates heard from top executives of the NBC radio network the details of sweeping program changes and new sales patterns to revitalize the medium. The NBC radio network is being completely re-programmed with the mass premiere of 28 new program series beginning the week of October 4. The new schedule will feature related programs in blocks, the introduction of two new two-hour programs Saturday and Sunday, a huge expansion in news programs, new and dramatic uses of network radio's mobility in originating programs from all over the country and around the world, and the use of new concepts in entertainment and information presentations. Advertisers will be offered a wide new range of opportunities for shared sponsorship in programs of several types, further emphasizing radio's widely acknowledged economy.

William H. Fineshriber, Jr., vice president in charge of the NBC radio network, said that NBC's new and separate radio organization is going forward with imagination and intelligence in revitalizing the network's radio program structure and meeting present-day needs of advertisers.

In reviewing the new radio organization with the affiliates, Fineshriber outlined for them the separate and self-contained radio departments now set up in the primary areas of network operation: management, sales, programs, advertising and promotion.

The line-up of the new NBC organization, Fineshriber reported, puts Ted Cott in the important post of operating vice president of the radio network. Cott is well known throughout the industry for his showmanship, promotional ability, understanding of station problems and the profit records of stations he has managed.

The Radio Sales Department is headed by Fred Horton, a veteran sales executive in radio and printed media. The Radio Program Department is headed by Jack Cleary, who has had 15 years' experience with advertising agencies, talent agencies and networks.

The Program Department, Fineshriber said, is completely staffed with its own program planners, producers, directors and writers, assigned exclusively to radio. This staff, he continued, working overtime with Ted Cott, has prepared the massive new radio program schedule.

Merrill Mueller, foreign correspondent and outstanding news man with 19 years of experience, has been assigned to radio news and features to head up the network's expanded news operation.

Fineshriber also announced that the new radio network organization now has its own separate advertising and promotion department. Its director is Ridgway Hughes, who brings to the post a wide background of promotional experience in media and agencies. He was formerly sales promotion manager in the heretofore integrated television and radio advertising and promotion department and has selected a staff of assistants from that department for the radio department he heads.

Fineshriber pointed out that the NBC radio network now offers a great variety of fresh, new half-hour programs for advertisers who buy on that basis, a number of new program forms which can be bought in small units by smaller advertisers, and a variety of shared sponsorship opportunities for advertisers who want to spread their radio advertising over different periods or supplement their other network operations.

Shared participation sponsorships will be available in a strip pattern, 15 minutes, five days a week or in two solid hours of daytime programs on Saturday and Sunday. The strip programs will be "Fibber McGee and Molly", 10 to 10:15 P.M.; "It Pays to be Married", 5:45-6 P.M.; and "Second Chance", 11:45 a.m.-12 noon -- all Monday through Friday. Advertisers will be asked to buy a minimum of three participations, each consisting of one commercial announcement, but they can distribute these commercial messages in any of the programs. A similar participation format has been established for "The Big Preview", Saturdays, 11 A.M. to 1:00 P.M., beginning October 3 and highlighting all the new record releases of the week, and "Week-End", Sundays 2:00 to 4:00 P.M., radio's new Sunday newspaper beginning October 5.

"We are thinking ahead to our long-range future in radio," Fineshriber said, "because we expect to be in radio for as long ahead as anyone can see. And we are building for leadership -- the sort of leadership that is founded on a solid base and can weather any storm.

"Radio provides certain services which no other medium can provide as well, and it meets needs which no other medium can meet in the same way. If we build on these values, if we put network radio to work at the things it can do best, we will always hold enough audience to support a national service. And if we and our affiliates accommodate our network sales patterns to meet new advertising needs, we will build the revenue needed to keep the business solvent and to make it profitable for networks as well as for the stations.

"With the new radio organization, the new programming and renewed concentration on our radio problems, we are ready to go. Our purpose is to win and to hold for NBC first position in public attention, in audience, in advertising values and in sales. We expect to prove by deeds -- and not just by words -- the continuing vitality of network radio. And the new values we are now building are not for short-term demonstration purposes but for the permanent future."

Ted Cott, operating vice president of the radio network, announced the details of NBC's massive frontal attack in radio programming. The 28 new program series which begin the week of October 4 constitute the greatest single mass programming operation in the history of the industry, he pointed out, and demonstrate NBC's basic decision to meet today's programming needs with courage and imagination rather than by cautious, timid or tentative experimentation.

Block or mood programming has given each night of the radio week on NBC a flavor and individual character of its own, Cott explained. "Vertical mood programming of this kind in blocks means better and stronger audience reaction by engaging the attentions of the public, who can settle down to mood rather than smorgasbord," he pointed out. Sunday night will feature drama; Monday, music; Tuesday, mystery and adventure; Wednesday, comedy; Thursday, comedy and audience participation; Friday, all comedy; Saturday, a "prestige" block from 6:30-8:00 p.m., and "hillbilly" programs after 8:00 p.m.

... and ...

"As a basic ingredient of radio service, news occupies a No. 1 position," Cott pointed out, "and we are going to capitalize upon it to the fullest." The new NBC program schedule calls for a huge expansion in news coverage throughout each broadcast day. In addition to "Week-End", a complete radio Sunday newspaper with all the departments of a great metropolitan daily, a dozen additional news programs have been scheduled, bringing the number to an all-time high of 128 per week.

"Our new programming approach tied into new sales patterns and stepped up promotional and merchandising devices will bring to the NBC radio network a fresh sound, new talking points, extra dimensions," said Cott. "NBC radio will be headquarters for new ideas and as such will engage the attention of the public and the advertiser. This is a striking re-investment in radio by NBC."

Fred Horton, recently appointed sales director for the radio network, reported that NBC now has a staff of 15 radio salesmen, the largest in the business. They are assisted by a sales planning staff, an advertising and promotion staff and publicity specialists, all concentrating exclusively on radio.

Horton emphasized the determination and dedication of the newly organized sales staff, which believes in radio, knows radio, and will devote its full energies to selling radio creatively. He reviewed the NBC commercial schedule including the sale just concluded of the 10:45-11 a.m. morning strip to Miles Laboratories for the "Break the Bank" program.

"We are going to sell radio on the basis of its total values -- its quality as a low cost, effective advertising medium, its influence on the people, and the sales results it gives by converting listeners to customers," Horton said. "And we are going to stress the special values in radio which NBC provides, through the audience strength of our new program schedule and NBC's acknowledged facilities' superiority in covering all of America."

"In addition to these fundamental values which NBC provides, our new sales plans give us supplementary tools which are essential for broadening the base of radio network sales in today's market," concluded Horton. "They offer all national advertisers -- both large and small -- a new type of opportunity for using network radio in a flexible way which can fit their varied budgets and advertising patterns."

28 NEW RADIO PROGRAMS TO BE LAUNCHED ON NBC WEEK OF OCT. 4; ORIGINAL FEATURES AND BLOCK-BOOKING HIGHLIGHT FALL SCHEDULE

Largest Number of Network Shows Ever Introduced in One Week

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 -- The National Broadcasting Company on Sunday, Oct. 4, will launch 28 new radio programs, the largest number of new shows ever to be introduced on a single network within a single week.

The new Fall programs were announced at the NBC Radio Network Affiliates meeting at the Drake Hotel by Ted Cott, operating vice president of the NBC radio network. Cott outlined his programming concepts and specific programs that are being put on the air to carry out a promised revitalization of radio.

The 28 new programs -- which supplement a star-studded line-up of headliners from past seasons -- will run the gamut from news to comedy to poetry to drama to audience-participation.

The seven new programming approaches include:

The Multi-Star Program: Using one of radio's basic instruments of flexibility, the tape recorder, NBC will program multiple stars on a single show instead of the traditional one or two. For example, on THE GOLDEN TREASURY, featuring readings by various stars, 12 artists will pre-record as many as 10 poems each, and each program in the series will star such names as Joan Crawford, Hume Cronyn, Faye Emerson, Maurice Evans, Deborah Kerr, Robert Montgomery and William Powell.

The Grass Roots Origination: The great mobility of radio will be used to reach out to all of America for its originations and its talent. This will offer further proof of the national quality of NBC radio; it will also flavor the programming dish with regional character.

The Telephone Party Line: Since the radio network is in essence a giant party line, use of it as an instrument of programming permits "party line" participation from all over the country in quiz and other type programs.

The Big Name Strip: Such top rank comedy programs as FIBBER MCGEE AND MOLLY and CAN YOU TOP THIS? will appear 15 minutes nightly.

The Omnibus News Project: Radio, which through the standard five and 15-minute newscasts already has established itself as the swiftest of all news media, will be put to even greater use in a two-hour Sunday "newspaper of the air," called WEEKEND, which offers spot news, features, sports, women's news, criticism, guests and nearly every type of news to be found in Sunday editions of newspapers.

The Special Project: The world's great classics will be scheduled in special productions in longer length than the standard radio program. For example, there will be at least three works by Shakespeare, which will be presented in cooperation with RCA Victor Records. Already planned are "Macbeth" and "Romeo and Juliet," with Alec Guinness and Claire Bloom, and "The Taming of the Shrew," with Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy.

The Mass Premiere: The unprecedented introduction of 28 major programs in one short period is a technique for dramatically reminding the listening public of the strength, vitality and showmanship which are still very much evident in radio.

With some of the older and highly successful programs returning from Summer hiatuses to form the bases for evening lineups, the new emphasis will be on "vertical mood" programming on several evenings.

For example, Monday will mean music on NBC -- with THE RAILROAD HOUR, VOICE OF FIRESTONE, TELEPHONE HOUR, BAND OF AMERICA occupying the heart of the evening.

Tuesday will be "adventure night" with three mystery-crime programs -- BARRIE CRAIG, DRAGNET, and FRANKIE GALAHAD, a situation adventure series starring Frank Sinatra.

Friday will be "comedy night," with Bob Hope, Phil Harris and Alice Faye, and Gertrude Berg, creator and star of "The Goldbergs" in THE HOUSE OF GLASS, a situation comedy series. The evening, as will every weekday evening, will be topped off by the 15-minute strips, FIBBER MCGEE AND MOLLY and CAN YOU TOP THIS?

Saturday will be programmed in huge blocks. Football will take up three-and-a-half hours and will be followed by a sports round-up and a sports feature. The morning will see a special two-hour show previewing all the new record releases and using guest disc jockeys throughout the country. The evening will bring the NBC SYMPHONY, NBC LECTURE HALL and COLLEGE QUIZ BOWL.

'THE PRESIDENT'S WEEK,' NEW SERIES RECOUNTING ACTIVITIES OF EISENHOWERS, TO BE PRESENTED ON NBC BY TEX AND JINX

News Film, Interviews and Live Coverage Included in Programs

Tex and Jinx (Falkenburg) McCrary, NBC's famous husband-and-wife team who made their radio debut in 1946, will present a new series, THE PRESIDENT'S WEEK, on NBC television, beginning Sunday, Oct. 4 (12:45-1:00 p.m., EST).

In the new series, Tex and Jinx will cover in close-up the week's activities of the President and Mrs. Eisenhower. Through the use of NBC-TV News Film, live coverage and interviews, Tex and Jinx will attempt to give the American people an intimate glimpse into the busy week of the Chief Executive and his wife.

The program is designed to give the "pros and cons" in the life of the President.

2 - 'The President's Week'

Tex and Jinx are old friends of President Eisenhower, and their reporting will have the added advantage of this acquaintanceship which goes back to Ike's military career. The couple feels, however, that the story should deal "primarily with the Presidency" rather than with the President himself.

Producer of the show will be Sandy Sheldon. Bob Priaulx will direct while Tex and Jinx narrate and report the show.

MARTHA RAYE TO GREET MARGARET TRUMAN, CESAR ROMERO, JAKE LaMOTTA AND ROCKY GRAZIANO AS GUESTS ON FIRST 'ALL STAR REVUE' OF NEW SEASON

Martha Raye, television's clown princess of buffoonery, will return to headline NBC-TV's first ALL STAR REVUE program of the new season on Saturday, Oct. 3 (9 to 10:30 p.m., EST).

Margaret Truman will head a list of guest stars including Cesar Romero and the two former middleweight boxing champions, Jake LaMotta and Rocky Graziano.

This year, for the first time, the "All Star Revue" will be presented once every four weeks for an hour and a half, beginning with the opening program on Oct. 3. "Your Show of Shows," starring Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca, is seen in this time period three weeks out of every four.

Miss Raye was one of the outstanding comedy stars of the "All Star Revue" for the past two years, when it was a weekly, one-hour series. She will headline several "All Star Revue" shows this season. NBC plans also to star other top entertainers on the series.

A remarkable performer with almost unlimited energy, Miss Raye has won great popularity with her slapstick comedy portrayals. Possessor of a fine singing voice, Martha can sing a hot, jump tune or a poignant blues ballad with equal ease and talent. She can kick and move in fast dance routines rivaling those of the best professional dancers. All these talents have been employed to best advantage on Martha's TV shows.

As in the past, Martha's show will employ a "book" format, with the comedy, singing and dancing all linked to a story-line running through the show. Nat Hiken, who has written all of Miss Raye's "All Star Revue" shows, will continue as the head writer and director. Carl Hoffenberg will produce the show, and George Bassman will conduct the orchestra. Grey Lockwood is TV director.

Hal Janis, executive producer for "Your Show of Shows," has the same post for "All Star Revue."

'TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES,' PIONEER AUDIENCE PARTICIPATION SHOW, RENEWED BY SPONSOR; MOVES TO THURSDAY SCHEDULE

Ralph Edwards Emcees Show With Comedy, Novelty and Surprises

Ralph Edwards' TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, radio's oldest stunt show, heard until last week on the NBC radio network Wednesdays has been renewed for another season by its sponsor, Pet Milk.

Starting Sept. 24, "Truth or Consequences" moves into a new day and time spot on NBC radio, Thursday nights at 9:00 p.m., EDT.

A pioneer audience participation show, "Truth or Consequences" is based on the old parlor game of the same name. Comedy and novelty are combined with a surprise element on every program.

"Truth or Consequences" is remembered for creating such widely-known contests as "Mrs. Hush" and "Walking Man" which raised $8,000,000 for charity. The program is also noteworthy for having a seal swim the English Channel, for obtaining a post-mark for the city of Hollywood and having the town of Hot Springs, N.M., change its official name to Truth or Consequences.

NBC RADIO AFFILIATES EXPRESS 'UNANIMOUS ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION' OF NETWORK'S PLANS AND PROPOSALS PRESENTED AT CHICAGO MEETING

Chicago, Sept. 18 -- A statement of enthusiastic reception and endorsement of NBC's dynamic new programming and sales plans for the radio network was issued today on behalf of the network affiliates by Robert D. Swezey, chairman of the affiliates' committee.

The group was most favorably impressed with the analysis of the present and future of radio network services presented by Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, chairman of the boards of the Radio Corporation of America and the National Broadcasting Company, the statement said.

At the conclusion of a full day's session at which Gen. Sarnoff and top executives of NBC's radio network outlined plans and policies for the future development of NBC's radio service, the NBC Radio Affiliates Committee authorized Swezey to issue the following statement on behalf of the affiliates:

"We were unanimous in our enthusiastic reception of the overall plans and proposals presented to us today by the NBC executives for the revitalization of the NBC Radio Network and the strengthening of the medium.

"The NBC radio affiliates endorse the new program concepts which show originality and basic soundness and which, coupled with the promotional supports and fresh, aggressive sales approaches which were outlined to us, give excellent promise of success.

"This effort on the part of NBC is to our minds the most significant and constructive forward step which has been taken in the network broadcasting business in many years.

"We were most favorably impressed with General Sarnoff's frank and cogent analysis of the present radio broadcasting picture and his penetrating views with respect to the future of radio.

"It is our intention to continue the NBC Radio Affiliates Committee as a permanent organization with the present subcommittee continuing to function as an active liaison between the full committee and the network representatives.

"It is our sincere belief that today's meeting constitutes an important milestone in the history of the NBC Radio Network.

"We are confident that the approach taken in that meeting will aid materially in insuring the continuing effectiveness of the network as a vital public service and advertising facility.

"The NBC radio affiliates have today pledged themselves to make every reasonable cooperative effort with the network officials to keep NBC in the number one position in American radio."

Well over 100 of NBC's radio network stations were represented by owners and executives at the full-day meeting at the Drake Hotel in Chicago.

They heard from William H. Fineshber, Jr., vice president in charge of the radio network, a detailed report on the recent separation of the radio and television networks at NBC and a review of the network's new sales plans which will offer advertisers a wide variety of new economy buys in network radio.

NBC SPOT SALES CHALKS UP $2,000,000 VOLUME IN WEEK MAKING RECORD
$6,500,000 IN NEW AND RENEWED BUSINESS IN FIVE-WEEK PERIOD

NBC Spot Sales has racked up a record week in sales volume during the five-day period of Sept. 14-18 with billings topping the $2,000,000 mark, according to Thomas B. McFadden, director of NBC Spot Sales. In making the figure known, McFadden also said that in the past five weeks NBC Spot Sales has broken another record. The organization's total sales volume for the five week period ending Sept. 18 reached $6,500,000 in new and renewed business.

"This is the biggest sales record in the history of NBC Spot Sales," McFadden said. "I attribute it to a general upswing in radio and television spot buying and specifically to NBC Spot Sales' new approaches and increased activity on the part of our sales staff."

At the end of business today (Sept. 18) more than half of the radio and television stations represented by NBC Spot Sales were near the sold-out point, McFadden said.

McFadden stated that the sales were in every category from a $300 purchase to a $300,000 contract.

Among the buyers of the greatest amounts of time on the NBC Spot Sales represented stations were: The American Tobacco Company, B.T. Babbitt Company, Miles Laboratories, General Motors, Procter and Gamble, Kellogg Company and Colgate-Palmolive Peet.

FIRST DAYTIME TEST IN NEW YORK AREA TO INFORM PUBLIC OF CONELRAD RADIO SYSTEM IN EVENT OF AIR RAID

The first daytime test in the New York metropolitan area, to acquaint the public with the vital part the broadcasting industry will take in the event of an enemy air raid, will be held Friday, Sept. 25, from 9:30-9:45 a.m.

On that occasion, CONELRAD (controlled electro-magnetic radiation), the system evolved to provide continuous radio communication without offering "homing in" assistance to hostile airplanes, will be explained by New York City and State Civil Defense officials, in conjunction with the New York City Civil Defense Broadcasters' Committee.

Here is what will take place in the simulated raid, just as it would take place in the event of a real enemy attack:

At exactly 9:30 a.m. on Sept. 25, every AM, FM and TV station in the metropolitan area participating in the test will go off the air. These include stations in New York City, northern New Jersey, Morristown and New Brunswick, N.J., White Plains, N.Y., and Hempstead and Freeport, Long Island.

Certain previously designated AM stations will then return to the air on 640 and 1240 kilocycles only. The same program will be fed to each of these stations, with each station on the air a few seconds, cutting off automatically after this short period to be replaced by another station.

2 - First Daytime Test

In this way, a continuous program will be provided. However, since the actual broadcasting comes from one transmitter after another, there will be no continuous radio beams for attacking airplanes to "home in" on, since no one station will be on the air for more than a few seconds at a time.

The 15-minute program to be heard will consist of brief pickups from the newsrooms of the radio stations and talks by Civil Defense officials.

Thomas H. Phelan of the National Broadcasting Company is chairman of the New York Civil Defense Broadcasters' Committee, and Gordon C. Graham of the Columbia Broadcasting System is vice chairman. Lt. Gen. C.R. Huebner is director of New York State Civil Defense.

In this way, a continuous program will be provided. However, the program will be provided in a continuous manner from our transmitter after making the necessary adjustments for receiving signals. The program will be on the air for more than a few seconds at a time.

The 15-minute program to be heard will consist of brief pickups from the newscasts of the radio stations and talks by our various officials.

Thomas W. Wheeler of the National Broadcasting Company is president of the New York City Radio Association, and is chairman of the National Broadcasting System in New York City. Mr. Wheeler is president of the New York City Radio Association.

NBC SPOT SALES ESTABLISHES DETROIT OFFICE

NBC Spot Sales has established a branch office in Detroit, Thomas B. McFadden, director of NBC Spot Sales, announced today. The office will be located in the Penobscot Building, and is scheduled to open Oct. 15. In the meantime, NBC Spot Sales will make its Detroit headquarters in the Hotel Statler.

The Detroit office will be staffed by Allen W. Kerr and Robert Miller. Kerr is a new member of NBC Spot Sales. He came to NBC from H-R Representatives, where he was a salesman for the past three years. Previously, Kerr was with WCBS Radio, Hearst Radio and Transit Radio in sales capacities. Kerr will handle television sales for the NBC Detroit office.

Miller is being transferred from NBC Spot Sales in Cleveland to the Detroit office, where he will handle radio sales. Miller has been with NBC Spot Sales since July, 1951. He joined NBC's owned and operated stations in Cleveland, WTAM and WNBK, as a salesman in 1948. Prior to that, he was a space salesman for the Cleveland Press.

With the opening of the Detroit office, NBC Spot Sales has offices in eight major cities: New York, Cleveland, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Atlanta and Charlotte.

WORLD SERIES BETWEEN YANKEES AND DODGERS WILL BE TELECAST BY NBC-TV IN 100 CITIES STARTING SEPT. 30

Potential Audience for Gillette-Sponsored Telecasts Is 75,000,000 Each Day Over 105 Transmitters

Thanks to the steady progress of the coaxial cable, more people than ever before will see the upcoming edition of the World Series, which will be telecast by NBC under the sponsorship of the Gillette Safety Razor Company for the seventh consecutive year.

This second straight Series meeting of the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers will get under way at Yankee Stadium on Wednesday, Sept. 30. With Mel Allen and Red Barber splitting the announcing chores, the telecasts will begin at 12:45 p.m., EST. In the event of a Sunday game, air time will be 1:45 p.m., EST.

With over 25,000,000 television sets now in areas connected by the coaxial cable, 75,000,000 people (an average of three viewers per set) is the potential audience for a single game. Should the Series go seven games, the accumulative audience could hit 525,000,000. Last year, with an estimated 18,000,000 sets in cable areas, the total accumulative audience was estimated at 350,000,000 for the seven-game Series.

TWO NEW PLANS FOR SHARED-PARTICIPATION SPONSORSHIP OF POPULAR RADIO NETWORK SERIES ANNOUNCED BY NBC

Advertisers Can Buy into 15-minute Strips and 2-Hour Features

Two dynamic new sales plans for NBC radio -- plans designed to attract both the major advertiser with large budget and the smaller national advertiser -- were announced today by William H. Fineshriber Jr., vice president in charge of the NBC Radio Network.

Under these fresh, flexible plans, NBC radio, effective Monday, Oct. 5, is offering shared-participation sponsorships in two distinct program patterns -- a strip pattern (15-minutes, five days a week), and a block pattern (two solid hours in the daytime on Saturday and Sunday).

The first plan, based on strip programming, is called "The Three Plan," because it is limited to three specific strip programs and the minimum purchase requirement for the advertiser is three participations on any of the programs on any of the five days.

Programs to be sold on this basis are SECOND CHANCE (11:45-12 noon, EST), an audience-participation show attracting large, primarily housewife audiences; IT PAYS TO BE MARRIED (5:45-6 p.m., EST), another audience-participation show in which husbands and wives tell how their marriages have succeeded despite tremendous hardships; and FIBBER McGEE AND MOLLY (10-10:15 p.m., EST), radio's perennial favorites in a fast-moving, new 15-minute format.

(more)

"The Three Plan" for selling these three strips is simple: Each 15-minute segment will have three one-minute announcements, or 15 commercial availabilities a week per strip, making a total of 45 participations per week in the three strips. An advertiser may buy as many participations as he wants in any of the strips, but must buy a minimum of three. The price is based on one-third of the 15-minute rate for time, and a pro-rata share of the overall talent cost.

"Consider what this plan means to the advertiser," Fineshriber said. "A major advertiser can supplement his other broadcast operations by buying a combination of participations in 'The Three Plan.' He can buy three participations in each of the strips and get national exposure morning, afternoon and evening in three different programs. Or he can buy one participation every day in one of the strips, and get his message spread across five days of the week. Or he can make his own combination to fit his own needs."

"The smaller national advertiser, who has never been able to use network radio before, now has the key for using it. Through this plan, we are giving advertisers just what they want from network radio --frequency of advertising, large cumulative audiences and low cost per thousand. We also give them real flexibility--from a few participations a week to a large number, in the morning, afternoon or evening, or in any combination they can best use."

3 - Radio Sales

The second new sales plan announced by Fineshriber is based on the new shows, THE BIG REVIEW (Saturday, 11 a.m.-1 p.m., EST), a record show featuring previews of all new releases, with three guest disc jockeys from various parts of the country; and WEEKEND (Sunday, 4-6 p.m., EST), radio's "newspaper of the air."

Each of these programs (except the last hour of "The Big Preview") also will be offered for sale on a shared-sponsorship basis. Each hour will provide for eight commercials and each commercial is one participation. An advertiser can buy one or more participations in either or both of the shows.

This is the same sales pattern developed so successfully on TODAY, NBC-TV's phenomenally successful early morning news and special events show.

RCA COMPATIBLE COLOR TELEVISION VIEWED IN CHICAGO OVER CLOSED CIRCUIT FROM NEW YORK

Chicago, Sept. 22 -- Compatible color television was viewed for the first time by the press in the Middle West today when the National Broadcasting Company held a special showing of the RCA Compatible color system.

The program, a variety show starring Nanette Fabray and the "Hit Parade" dancers, was seen at 2 p.m., CDT, in the Drake Hotel here over a closed circuit from NBC's Colonial Theatre in New York, world's first fully equipped studio for compatible color. It was not broadcast.

The press demonstration followed a private showing held yesterday at the annual meeting of the Association of National Advertiser and preceded another for the ANA today.

Attending the showing were representatives of the Chicago and Midwestern press. The performance was viewed over developmental Radio Corporation of America color receivers, which have the same shape and dimensions as standard black-and-white console models.

Compatibility of the system -- that is, its property of being picked up in black-and-white on ordinary sets -- was demonstrated through black-and-white receivers placed next to the color sets. The black-and-white images resulting from the colorcast had high-definition quality.

The broadcast demonstrated the fidelity of color rendition which is a feature of the compatible all-electronic system developed by RCA. RCA-NBC, on June 25, filed a petition with the Federal Communications Commission for approval of the compatible color standards used by the RCA color system.

Sylvester L. Weaver, vice chairman of the NBC Board, in charge of TV network programs, and O.B. Hanson, vice president and chief engineer of NBC, were interviewed following the showing and related the network's preparations for colorcasting, and its plans for the future, contingent on FCC approval.

Mr. Weaver emphasized that mass production of color receivers is still some time away, and that until such time, sets from the pilot-production lines will cost between $800 and $1,000. Mr. Weaver urged the public to continue buying black-and-white sets until color receivers are freely available.

Plans as related by Mr. Weaver and Mr. Hanson include the conversion of many of NBC's top shows in a series of "color premieres." These shows would appear in turn before the color cameras at the Colonial Theatre. If the program date falls before FCC approval, the "premiere" will be in the form of a dress rehearsal, with the regular broadcast following in ordinary black and white. Upon FCC approval, the "premieres" will go out over the air in color.

By the end of this year, $25,000,000 will have been invested by RCA in color research and development, and another $15,000,000 will be added to the investment to establish color television as a commercial reality.

NBC has established a color producing unit to handle color programs. An order has gone to all producers and directors that all shows be planned with colorcasting in mind, and that shows be prepared to move into the Colonial Theatre when called upon. Another order calls for submission to the color corps of all colors to be used in the painting of basic sets, the color to be passed on by special consultants.

All NBC experimental color broadcasts now originate from the Colonial, which is operating seven days a week. Equipped with four RCA color cameras, special lighting equipment and monitoring and testing facilities, the Colonial has been the training ground for almost a year for color production crews.

It was revealed recently that several sustaining NBC programs had been broadcast in color, without announcement to that effect under temporary experimental authorization of the FCC. The programs were received on ordinary sets in high-quality black and white.

On Aug. 30, NBC presented its first announced color broadcast, the Kukla, Fran and Ollie production of the opera, "St. George and the Dragon," with the NBC Symphony Orchestra, Arthur Fiedler conducting. Dave Garroway of NBC-TV's "Today" acted as commentator.

Among other current NBC color activities is a series of commercial color clinics, during which various advertising agencies are invited to practice the building of color commercials for the products now advertised over NBC television in black-and-white.

Announced for New Year's Day, and contingent upon FCC approval, is a colorcast of the Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena.

CHANGE IN SCHEDULING NBC-TV SHOWS MAKES AVAILABLE THE USE OF SAME HOUR (LOCAL TIME) ON EAST AND WEST COASTS

'Quick Kinescopes' Utilized in Plan to Meet Sponsor Needs

A change in the scheduling of NBC-TV network programs that will permit affiliated stations on the Pacific Coast to carry programs at the corresponding hour in which they are seen in the Eastern Time zone was announced today by George Frey, NBC vice president and director of sales.

The scheduling change, which becomes effective with the switch from Daylight Saving to Standard Time on Sunday, Sept. 27, means simply this:

A show scheduled in New York at 10 p.m. Eastern Time, will be seen on the Pacific Coast at 10 p.m. Pacific Time, instead of at 7 p.m. Pacific Time, as frequently was the case in the past.

The scheduling change, expected to be a boon to both the advertiser and the Pacific Coast viewing public, is made possible by 35-millimeter quick kinescope recording and by distribution of individual delay prints of a program.

By means of the "quick kinescope," the program is recorded on film and then shown to the Pacific Coast after a three-hour delay.

2 - Scheduling Changes

By means of individual delay prints, a program is shown on the Coast either one, two or three weeks after the original showing in the East.

As far as is known, NBC-TV is the first network to institute such program schedule changes for the Pacific Coast.

"For the past 12 months," Frey said, "NBC has been conducting an extensive research project to determine the most desirable method of scheduling network programming on affiliated stations in the Pacific Coast Time Zone. We are convinced that this plan, which schedules programs at the most desirable viewing hours on the Coast, will be of considerable advantage to advertisers and the viewing public."

The only programs which will not conform to the new Pacific Coast scheduling pattern will be those which by nature require simultaneous transcontinental release, Frey said. The quick kinescopes for the West Coast will be made in, and transmitted from, Los Angeles.

The scheduling changes will not apply in the Central and Mountain Time Zones.

In connection with the scheduling changes, Frey announced drastic cuts in the East-West and West-East transcontinental circuit charges. The East-West charge, formerly $1000 per hour, will be $200 per hour, and the West-East charge, formerly $2000 an hour, will be $500 per hour, both effective Sept. 27.

MILTON BERLE RETURNS TO TV WITH NEW PROGRAM

Tallulah Bankhead and Frank Sinatra to Be Guests
In Comedy Sketches for Premiere Of 'Buick-Berle Show'

Milton "Mr. Television" Berle returns to the NBC-TV network for the 1953-54 season with a stellar cast and guest list on the premiere program of the BUICK-BERLE SHOW Tuesday, Sept. 29 (8 p.m., EST).

For the first show of the new series, which marks the start of the comedian's sixth season in television, Berle's guest stars will be Tallulah Bankhead and Frank Sinatra, sharing the spotlight in comedy sketches.

Regular cast members, who will appear throughout the season, include diminutive Ruthie Gilbert as Berle's "devoted" secretary Maxine, squeaky-voiced Arnold Stang as Francis, who has a "crush" on Maxine, and Alan Roth and his orchestra. The program will follow the successful musical comedy format established last season, with scripts written by Goodman Ace with Aaron Ruben, Selma Diamond, Jerry Seelen, Jay Burton and Phil Charig.

2 - Berle Returns

The new series, which will be sponsored by the Buick Motor Division of General Motors through the Kudner Agency, Inc., will be presented 26 Tuesdays during the 39-week 1953-54 season. The "Buick-Berle Show" will be telecast on the following Tuesdays: Sept. 29; Oct. 6, 13, 27; Nov. 3, 10, 24; Dec. 1, 8; Jan. 5, 12, 19; Feb. 2, 9, 23; March 2, 9, 23, 30; April 6, 20, 27; May 4, 18, 25, and June 8.

Berle began his TV career June 8, 1948 as emcee for the premiere of "The Texaco Star Theatre." Originally scheduled for only four appearances, his immediate success with the viewing audience resulted in his being made permanent master of ceremonies and star of the show on Sept. 21, 1948.

The top-rated comic was the first big name personality to break into television. At the time many entertainers were uncertain about the new medium but Berle pioneered in the field, developing styles for format and direction which are currently considered basic. Last year, when he announced a change of program format -- "a new Milton Berle" -- he created widespread controversy and discussion in the industry, among the critics and the viewing public. Berle vindicated the change by winning new critical acclaim and the applause of the general public which was reflected in rating surveys.

Berle's broad range of audience appeal -- he is "Uncle Milty" to millions of youngsters as well as being a favorite with their parents -- is the result of a background of 40 years of varied show business experience.

He is a dynamic performer and is not content with just being the "star" of the show. Berle is a perfectionist, and so insists on making all phases of the show's production his concern. He engages in directing the sketch and dances, confers with the scriptwriters to whom he often offers suggestions that form the basis for a complete routine, writes special material and lyrics, frequently arranges orchestrations, directs the orchestra during rehearsal, uses stand-ins for himself in the sketches and dances so he can help direct them, makes suggestions regarding the lighting, and controls the entire production until it is molded into the perfect show he seeks.

Berle works hard at his job, starting rehearsals the Thursday preceeding the actual performance. On the day of the show, the entire cast goes on the sets before the cameras for the first time in their rehearsal. Though broadcast time is 8 p.m., EST, the Tuesday rehearsal day starts soon after 7 a.m., EST, with Berle on-stage with the dancers and other cast members.

The energetic entertainer's efforts have paid off with a wide audience acceptance that has kept the series among the most popular of television presentations.

MADCAP CAPERS OF DEAN MARTIN AND JERRY LEWIS
LAUNCH NEW SEASON OF 'COLGATE COMEDY HOUR'

Oct. 4 Marks Opening Date of Top-Flight Laugh Series;
Durante, Cantor, O'Connor, Abbott and Costello
To Share Series; Other Big Names to Appear

The comedy team of Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis will inaugurate the fourth consecutive season of NBC-TV's COLGATE COMEDY HOUR on Sunday, Oct. 4 (8-9 p.m., EST). The explosive shenanigans of the young duo will set the stage for the Fall debuts of Jimmy Durante, Eddie Cantor, Donald O'Connor, and Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, in that order, on successive Sunday nights.

These seven comedians will appear regularly on the show throughout the season. Durante, who debuts on the series this year, will appear eight times. Abbott and Costello and Eddie Cantor will each do six shows, with Martin and Lewis set to appear five times, and Donald O'Connor scheduled for four productions. This leaves six open dates for the complete season, two of which will be filled by Ethel Merman and Sonja Henie.

2 - 'Colgate Comedy Hour'

Sam Fuller, executive producer of the series, developed the "Colgate Comedy Hour" policy of surrounding the great names of show-business who star on the show with top personalities and promising newcomers as guests which has caused the series to be called "The Palace of Comedy." For example, Burt Lancaster will appear with Martin and Lewis on the opening show; John Wayne will make his video debut with Jimmy Durante on Oct. 11; and Eddie Cantor will present Jack Benny and Eddie Fisher on his first show of the season, Oct. 18. Frank Sinatra will also guest with Durante on his second appearance of the season.

The "Colgate Comedy Hour" was the first program to introduce the big-name comedians to TV on a regular basis by developing the rotating formats for the stars. It was the first major show to move to the West Coast, and became the first commercial program to be made available across the country via the coaxial cable.

A rundown of the stars and guests who have appeared on this one show reads like a list of "Who's Who in Showbusiness." Bob Hope, Fred Allen, Eddie Cantor, Ray Bolger, and Abbott and Costello all made their TV debuts on the Sunday night series. Martin and Lewis, then a new comedy team, were introduced to the country with a show of their own, and a production was designed to capture the versatile talents of Donald O'Connor.

The "Colgate Comedy Hour" continually spotlights such top-flight guest stars as Janet Leigh, Tony Curtis, Lizbeth Scott, Broderick Crawford, Ann Sheridan, Charles Laughton, Rosemary Clooney, Rise Stevens, Ezio Pinza, and Dinah Shore.

The "Volpe Comedy Hour" was the first program to introduce the long-running tradition of TV on a regular basis by developing the rotating format for the hour. It was the first major show to have its own format and became the first successful program to be sold nationwide to the network and local stations.

A number of the stars and guests who have appeared on this program were listed in "Who's Who in Entertainment" for 1960, 1961, 1962, 1963, 1964, 1965, 1966, 1967, 1968, 1969, 1970, 1971, 1972, 1973, 1974, 1975, 1976, 1977, 1978, 1979, 1980, 1981, 1982, 1983, 1984, 1985, 1986, 1987, 1988, 1989, 1990, 1991, 1992, 1993, 1994, 1995, 1996, 1997, 1998, 1999, 2000, 2001, 2002, 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2011, 2012, 2013, 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017, 2018, 2019, 2020, 2021, 2022, 2023, 2024, 2025, 2026, 2027, 2028, 2029, 2030, 2031, 2032, 2033, 2034, 2035, 2036, 2037, 2038, 2039, 2040, 2041, 2042, 2043, 2044, 2045, 2046, 2047, 2048, 2049, 2050, 2051, 2052, 2053, 2054, 2055, 2056, 2057, 2058, 2059, 2060, 2061, 2062, 2063, 2064, 2065, 2066, 2067, 2068, 2069, 2070, 2071, 2072, 2073, 2074, 2075, 2076, 2077, 2078, 2079, 2080, 2081, 2082, 2083, 2084, 2085, 2086, 2087, 2088, 2089, 2090, 2091, 2092, 2093, 2094, 2095, 2096, 2097, 2098, 2099, 2100.

The "Volpe Comedy Hour" was produced and directed by Volpe and was a production that designed to provide the network with a new and exciting format.

3 - 'Colgate Comedy Hour'

Bing Crosby, Danny Kaye, and Milton Berle have all appeared as guests on the show.

Last season the show marked its 100th telecast by assembling all seven of the regular comics who take turns on the show for one production. This "million dollar" offering achieved one of the all-time audience records, having more viewers than any single session of the political conventions and considerably more listeners than the second Dempsey-Tunney fight, which had one of the highest all-time radio audiences.

In the 1952-53 season the "Colgate Comedy Hour" played to 99 per cent of the cumulative audience, according to a Nielsen survey. This means that 99 per cent of the nation's TV homes saw at least one "Colgate Comedy Hour."

When Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis take the stage on Oct. 4, the young comedians and the program will be shooting for new audience records and trying to set a new mark for entertainment and laughter.

'BREAK THE BANK' BECOMES MONDAY-THROUGH-FRIDAY
 DAYTIME FEATURE ON NBC RADIO NETWORK SEPT. 28

BREAK THE BANK, the audience participation program which started as a radio series in 1946 and over the years developed into one of the most popular quiz shows on radio and television will be heard on the NBC radio network beginning Sept. 28 (10:45 to 11 a.m., EST, Monday-through-Friday).

Bud Collyer, personable and quick-thinking emcee, will be quizmaster with Janice Gilbert as hostess and "paying teller."

Miles Laboratories, Inc., will sponsor the 15-minute strip over a 52-week period. The contract was signed through the Geoffrey Wade Agency.

After its launching as a radio series on July 5, 1946, the novel quiz program grew rapidly in popularity. In October, 1948, it became a simulcast, being aired over both radio and TV simultaneously.

Cash prizes won on the program by various contestants total more than $2,000,000. In 1951, a crippled Korean war veteran won $11,840 on "Break the Bank." At that time it was the largest cash prize ever awarded in such a contest.

Collyer has been identified with the program since its inception. First he was an assistant emcee and, when the program was split into separate radio and TV series, he took over as emcee of the morning radio program. A veteran of more than 20 eventful years in show business, Collyer is primed for the fast-running and spontaneous commentary that sparks the audience-participation show.

'LAST MAN OUT,' TRUE-TO-FACT DRAMATIZATIONS OF COMMUNISTS WHO BROKE WITH PARTY, TO START OCT. 4 ON NBC RADIO

Subjects of Case Histories to Appear on Programs

A new weekly radio program underscoring the terrors of Communism and pointing out avenues of escape to party members -- those who would like to "cross over" but live in fear of the consequences -- will start on NBC Sunday, Oct. 4 (10-10:25 p.m., EST).

The true-to-fact series is titled LAST MAN OUT, the title referring to "the most important man in America today" -- the "last man" out of the Communist Party.

Richard English, well-known magazine writer, will be the producer and the narrator. Richard George Pedicini will be the script-writer, and Harry Bubeck the supervisor.

Each broadcast will dramatize the case history of a leading Communist who has broken affiliation with the party and has returned to the American way of life. At the close of the dramatization, English will introduce the subject in person. In all cases, these subjects will be ex-Communists who were in the hierarchy of the Party.

Subject of the first broadcast, Oct. 4, will be Paul Crouch, who was organizer of the Communist Party in Hawaii, a member of the National Committee of the Young Communists League, organizer of the infiltration group of the U.S. ROTC and National Guard units in 1928, an honorary commander in the Red Army, organizer of the Communist Party in the Southern states, strike organizer, and district organizer for the Communist Party in Alameda County, Calif.

Crouch will tell in his own words the reasons he joined the party and why he left finally to assist the U.S. government.

Explaining the aims of the series, English says: "There is no pat answer as to what makes a Communist. Different backgrounds, different forces take men into the party. They leave the party for different reasons also. What is important is to understand and, where possible, to channel the forces that brought these men out. That's what this show is for.

"In 'Last Man Out' you'll be exposed to each phase of Communism -- and there are many. But you'll only be exposed in the terms of understanding the enemy; in terms of men and women rather than in terms of anger and propaganda. For Communism is a malignancy and must be dealt with as such. You don't cure cancer by hating it. You must understand it. Then you apply what measures are needed. And this show is dedicated to getting the last man out. By understanding Communism a little better we will defeat it a little faster."

It is English's view that it is hard for people when they first leave the Communist Party. "They don't have any place to go,"

he says. "The longer they have been in, the longer they have been sealed off -- the harder it is coming back into a free world.

"In helping these 'subjects' tell their stories of what took them into the party and what took them out," English says, "the public will be informed. "By helping these people where I can, I hope we will encourage still more to take that last step out, bringing with them the intelligence and understanding we must have to win this battle."

WRITES HISTORICAL NOVEL ABOUT PERU

"After a day of sweating out secret films of Malenkov, movie stars who hate to get up in the morning, and mobile units from the Fulton Fish Market, it's a pleasure at night to contemplate the ceremonial cannibalism of the Toradja hill dwellers of Indonesia."

So says Gerald Green, managing editor of Dave Garroway's morning television program, "Today," whose newest book, "The Sword and the Sun," will be published Sept. 28 by Scribners. An historical novel about Peru, "The Sword and the Sun" is a definitive account of what happened in Peru after the conquest of the Incas.

Green's previous book, "His Majesty O'Keefe," was sold to Hollywood and will be released by Warner Brothers in February, 1954. Green is now working on a third book, tentatively titled, "The Captives of Donggala," set in the Celebes.

Before joining NBC in 1950, he was night editor of International News Service in New York. Born in Brooklyn, he now lives with his wife and daughter in Fresh Meadows, Long Island, N.Y.

NATION TO SEE PROGRESS IN HEART DISEASE RESEARCH VIA NBC
AS NEW 'MARCH OF MEDICINE' TELEVISION SERIES OPENS

FOR RELEASE FRIDAY, A.M., SEPT. 25, 1953

A new NBC Fall series of MARCH OF MEDICINE television programs on selected dates with the first to be telecast on Thursday, Oct. 8 (10-10:30 p.m., EST), was announced today.

The "March of Medicine" programs were inaugurated at the Annual Meeting of the AMA in Chicago in June of 1952, where for the first time a nationwide television audience saw the actual live scenes of a patient undergoing surgery in a Chicago hospital.

The second "March of Medicine" telecast from Denver during the annual winter Clinical Meeting of the AMA last December showed scenes in a delivery room where a baby had been delivered by Caesarean section. The third "March of Medicine" telecast came from the AMA meeting in New York last June and featured the appearance of Rodney Dee Brodie who survived the medical history-making Siamese twin operation.

The new series will feature one telecast a month in October, November, and December. They are sponsored by Smith, Kline & French Laboratories, Philadelphia pharmaceutical firm which has pioneered in the use of television both in color and black and white as a medium of medical teaching and reporting the progress of medicine to the American public.

These new programs will be telecast from the country's leading medical schools and hospitals, and are designed to give the American public a better insight into some of the country's major health problems, and to reflect the extent of research which is being carried out by the medical profession. The new series, as have all the "March of Medicine" programs, will be carried over 69 stations of the NBC-TV network, and in addition, over 3 Canadian television stations.

The first telecast will be a report on heart disease -- "the nation's number one health problem."

The Oct. 8 telecast will replace the United States Tobacco Company's "Martin Kane." The tobacco company is also relinquishing its time for the other "March of Medicine" programs in the series, in the interest of public service.

The second of the new "March of Medicine" telecasts on Nov. 5 will be devoted to cancer research. It is intended to give the television audience a report of the extent of research being carried out in various parts of the country on the nation's second most serious health problem.

The third program will report on the highlights of the annual clinical meeting of the AMA in St. Louis on the night of Dec. 3.

In connection with the announcement of the new series, Dr. Edward J. McCormick, president of the American Medical Association, said: "The American Medical Association is pleased to cooperate in this new series of "March of Medicine" telecasts to the public.

It is our privilege now to launch with the American Medical Association a new Fall series of the 'March of Medicine,' and to report the story of modern medicine in the vivid reality made possible by television."

The decision to continue the "March of Medicine" programs on a more regular basis was made following surveys which showed that both the lay public and the medical profession were overwhelmingly in favor of such telecasts. Since the "March of Medicine" program last June, SKF's crew of scriptwriters and NBC producers and directors have traveled more than 15,000 miles throughout the country visiting medical research centers and interviewing doctors in connection with their appearances on the programs.

ELECTRONIC SPOT BUYING, A NEW SALES TECHNIQUE DEVELOPED BY NBC SPOT SALES, IS UNVEILED SIMULTANEOUSLY IN NEW YORK, CHICAGO AND LOS ANGELES

Electronic Spot Buying, a revolutionary sales technique developed by NBC Spot Sales, was introduced today simultaneously in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, where a total of 300 top advertising executives gathered in NBC Spot Sales offices to watch the first demonstration of the new technique.

The new sales concept provides "live" presentations of programs in distant cities by means of a closed television circuit. By pre-arrangement it enables a time buyer in New York to see a local cooking show in Los Angeles. By the same token, a time buyer in Chicago can watch a local New York show he is considering for sponsorship by his client. Electronic Spot Buying service is available to all stations represented by NBC Spot Sales.

The demonstration of Electronic Spot Buying was made during a 30-minute special closed circuit program which originated in five cities: New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago and Hollywood. Each of the stations contributed a five-minute version of one of its outstanding local programs, with Steve Allen in New York acting as emcee.

Charles R. Denny, vice president of NBC's Owned and Operated Stations Division, welcomed the group in New York and said: "Electronic Spot Buying service will be put into regular use next week. In the next two weeks NBC Spot Sales has scheduled three sessions for agency time buyers and more are anticipated.

"In offering this new service, available only through NBC Spot Sales," Denny said, "the advertising agency man and the client can view in New York any local program in any of the cities represented by our organization."

Thomas B. McFadden, director of NBC Spot Sales, said: "This new sales dimension goes a long way in eliminating blind spot buying. This complements the established services offered by NBC Spot Sales such as supplying market facts, ratings, cost-per-thousands and promotional material."

Electronic Spot Buying can be personalized to the degree that agency executives in New York, Chicago or Los Angeles, through closed circuit, can meet not only the people in other cities who are featured on the programs they buy but those behind the scenes as well. Also, if the client is interested in station facilities, they can be shown to him through the closed circuit method used by Electronic Spot Buying.

3 - Electronic Spot Buying

"This is the best way for an advertising agency or client to get the exact picture of what he is buying with his advertising budget," McFadden said. "And the sales method brings a freshness to selling, because programs in distant cities can put on a special show, for the client in New York showing how this commercial message will be handled -- how the talent will sell his product in that particular market. This is a great improvement over selling with kinescopes and films," McFadden stated.

NBC Spot Sales unveiled its new sales room in New York, which is an "electronic wonder." The room is equipped to present Electronic Spot Buying. It has a 27-inch RCA Victor television receiver for on-the-air or closed circuit pickups, a radio monitor and receiver system, a projection room for the presentation of kinescope or television film, transcription equipment, and has facilities for direct communication to all NBC Spot Sales-represented stations. The reception room and foyer of NBC Spot Sales office on the third floor of 30 Rockefeller Plaza has been designed to merchandise the programs, which are the properties of the 18 stations represented by NBC Spot Sales. Along the walls of the reception hall are 17 mock television screens which merchandise shows and talent on the represented stations. Each station has its own screen, and the subject matter in the form of pictures will be changed from time to time so that in the course of months every program on every station will be highlighted.

Each NBC Spot Sales station sent gifts, symbolic of the station's market, to guests at the party. Among the typical gifts

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records. It highlights the need for regular updates and the role of technology in streamlining the process. The second part focuses on the challenges faced by organizations in this regard, such as data silos and inconsistent reporting standards. Finally, the document offers practical recommendations for improving record-keeping practices, including the implementation of standardized protocols and the use of cloud-based solutions.

Conclusion

In summary, effective record-keeping is essential for organizational success and compliance. By adopting best practices and leveraging technology, organizations can ensure the integrity and accessibility of their data.

YANKEE AND DODGER PLAYERS TO TELL HIGHLIGHTS OF SERIES CONTESTS DAILY IN PRE-GAME PROGRAMS ON NBC-TV, WITH FRANK FRISCH SERVING AS HOST

FOR RELEASE MONDAY, SEPT. 28

For the first time in World Series history, participating ballplayers will appear on television immediately before each game to give the fans the inside story on outstanding plays of the previous day, as seen from the diamond itself.

The Gillette Safety Razor Company, sponsoring coverage of the annual baseball classic on NBC-TV for the seventh consecutive year, also will sponsor a 15-minute pre-game program on which Frank Frisch, ex-major league player and manager, will serve as host.

This second straight meeting of the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers will start at Yankee Stadium on Wednesday, Sept. 30. The Frisch program is scheduled for 12:45 p.m., EST, on weekdays, and 1:45 p.m. on Sunday. Game time is 1:05 p.m., EST on weekdays and 2:05 p.m., EST on Sunday, if the Series goes beyond four games.

Frisch will interview both Yankees and Dodger players who, before taking their positions on the field, will explain to televiewers how the game-winning catch was made the day before, or what sort of pitch was powdered for the winning run. Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick will appear as guest on the opening program. Casey Stengel and Chuck Dressen, managers of the Yanks and Dodgers, respectively, also are scheduled to appear during the Series.

Frisch, who in college days earned the nickname of the "Fordham Flash," was a brilliant major league performer. In 1919 he joined John McGraw's New York Giants without minor league experience and became one of the most spectacular players of that era. When his playing days were over he had a lifetime batting average of .318.

Even more significant was his hitting during the four successive World Series in which the Giants appeared from 1921 to 1924. In those four classics Frisch hit .300, .471, .400 and .333 to earn the distinction of being one of the greatest "money players" the game has known.

When he fell out with McGraw, the fiery second baseman went to St. Louis, where he eventually became manager. Frisch led the famous Gas House Gang to a pennant and World Series championship in 1934 and kept the Cards in the first division three out of the next five years. Since then he has managed Pittsburgh Pirates and the Chicago Cubs.

ADVENTURE DRAMA, 'TANGIER LADY,' STARS PATRICIA MEDINA AND SCOTT BRADY ON 'FORD THEATRE' FALL PREMIERE

Patricia Medina will portray a money-seeking European adventuress in North Africa whose plans are diverted by a romance with co-star Scott Brady in "Tangier Lady," premiere play of the new season on FORD THEATRE, Thursdays, Oct. 1 (9:30 p.m., EST) on NBC-TV.

Marika Tossek, the beautiful adventuress has romantic ideas about handsome Rocky Gallico (Brady) -- ideas which her wealthy suitor, Ali Sayyed (Ben Astar) is determined to thwart. In addition to Ali's hired gunmen bent on the destruction of Gallico, Marika's romance runs into further difficulty when a lovely lady named Lillie (Virginia Grey) gets her eye on Rocky. Before the romance becomes completely stalled, Marika, Rocky, Lillie and the jealous Ali indulge in some wild and woolly escapades.

"Tangier Lady" was directed by Ted Post from a screen play by Karen DeWolf. The original story was written by Sol Shor and Jack Harvey. Irving Starr is the producer.

'WALK A MILE,' QUIZ SHOW WITH BILL CULLEN AS EMCEE, RETURNS TO NBC RADIO NETWORK WEDNESDAY, OCT. 7

WALK A MILE, popular comedy-quiz program featuring Bill Cullen as master of ceremonies, will return to NBC radio beginning Wednesday, Oct. 7, (8-8:30 p.m., EST).

The program, which was heard over NBC at the same time last season, again will be sponsored by the R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company for Camel Cigarettes. William Esty is the agency.

Contestants are chosen from the studio audience, and are asked four questions, each one representing a quarter-of-a-mile advance in the quiz if answered correctly. If the contestant "walks" the full mile, he wins $250. A jackpot question at the end pays $500. If the jackpot question is unanswered, the $500 is added to the next week's total jackpot.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data. The second part of the document provides a detailed breakdown of the financial data for the quarter. It includes a table showing the revenue generated from various sources, as well as the associated costs and expenses. The final part of the document concludes with a summary of the overall financial performance and provides recommendations for future actions to improve efficiency and profitability.

STARTS NEW SEASON ON NBC RADIO NETWORK OCT. 5

JASON AND THE GOLDEN FLEECE, starring MacDonald
Carey, will return to NBC on Monday, Oct. 5 at 10:30 p.m., EST, following a Summer hiatus.

The adventure series with a New Orleans setting concerns a young man named Jason (Carey) who owns a ship named the Golden Fleece.

He uses as headquarters for chartering his ship a bar which he owns in the French Quarter of New Orleans.
In this quiet refuge it is possible for people to hear Chopin and Schubert played on the concertina, in contrast to the blare of jazz heard in other New Orleans bistros. To this place come the people who, for one reason or another, wish to hire the Golden Fleece and its captain, Jason. Jason's friend and confidante in all his adventures is Louis Dumont, played by Bill Conrad.

"Jason and the Golden Fleece" is written by Herb Ellis and Cleve Hermann and directed by Art Jacobson.
Frank Worth is the musical director.

FORMER PRESIDENT HERBERT HOOVER TO APPEAR ON 'EXCURSION,' FORD FOUNDATION YOUNG PEOPLE'S SERIES ON NBC-TV

The Ford Foundation today made the following announcement:

Arrangements have been concluded for the appearance of former President Herbert Hoover on EXCURSION, the Ford Foundation's TV-Radio Workshop television program for young people.

Mr. Hoover's appearance, which is scheduled for the program of October 18, will fulfill the plan of the workshop to present messages on the future for young people and their country from the two living ex-Presidents of the United States. Harry S. Truman appeared last week on the second of the 26-week series which is being carried on the NBC-TV network, Sunday afternoons from 3:30 to 4:00 p.m., EST.

In announcing the completion of arrangements for Mr. Hoover's appearance, Robert Saudek, director of the TV-Radio Workshop stated: "Mr. Hoover will discuss the character of our government and the opportunities which will be inherited by the coming generation. As the leader of a continuing effort to improve the processes of government for constructive action he is uniquely qualified to bring to young people a picture of their relationship to our democratic institutions."

'FIBBER McGEE AND MOLLY' HAS FIRST FORMAT CHANGE IN 18 YEARS; SHOW WILL BE HEARD 15 MINUTES, MONDAYS THROUGH FRIDAYS

All Familiar Hands on Deck in Switch From One Half-Hour
Each Week; Stars to Explain Move on Oct. 5 Opening

FIBBER McGEE AND MOLLY, NBC's ever-popular radio series starring Marian and Jim Jordan will inaugurate a new five-a-week series of 15-minute broadcasts when they return to the NBC radio network Monday, Oct. 5 (10:00-10:15 p.m., EST).

This will be the first time since the program's inauguration in 1935 that the once-a-week half-hour format has been altered in any way.

The basic idea of the domestic situation comedy will remain the same, with the antics of the lovable couple who live at 79 Wistful Vista providing the springboard for each program's story. Generally the hub for all activity is Fibber, whose tendency to exaggerate inevitably involves his patient and understanding wife in a series of retrieving actions. Fortunately for Fibber, Molly is always on his side.

YOUNG AMERICA GETS VERY CHEWSY AGAIN AS 50,000,000
 NBC BUBBLE GUM PICTURE CARDS ARE MADE AVAILABLE

If 50,000,000 Frenchmen can't be wrong, then certainly neither can millions of American youngsters trading, bartering, buying and selling 50,000,000 NBC Bubble Gum Picture Cards.

That's the thought in hamlet, village, town and city across the country this week as circulation of these full-color "trading cards" of NBC-TV and radio stars soars into the millions.

The faces of 100 top NBC celebrities -- Bob Hope, Dinah Shore, Fred Allen, Groucho Marx, Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca, Loretta Young, Kate Smith, Eddie Fisher and many others -- appear on these cards, five of which are included in each package of bubble gum distributed by Bowman Gum Division of the Haelan Laboratories, Inc., of Philadelphia.

The promotion was conceived last year by Ted Cott, now operating vice president of the NBC Radio Network. With the "trading cards" distributed in five markets the first year, the project was a whopping success: Within eight days, 2,000,000 packages of gum containing 10,000,000 cards were sold out.

So successful was this initial promotion that it has been greatly expanded. This year, NBC Bubble Gum Picture Cards are being distributed on a national basis, with a total circulation of more than 50,000,000 cards expected.

As far as is known, this is the first time stars of a single network have been featured in a promotion of this kind.

Co-operating with the Bowman Gum Division, NBC is devoting 10 and 20-second spot announcements on WNBC and WNBT in New York, and the NBC owned-and-operated radio and television stations in Washington, Chicago and Cleveland to promotion of the NBC Bubble Gum Picture Cards.

'STROKE OF FATE,' NEW RADIO SERIES DRAMATIZING POSSIBLE
REVERSALS OF HISTORIC EVENTS, TO START OCT. 4

First Play Is Based on Question of Developments
If Robert E. Lee Had Accepted Lincoln's Offer

History will be rewritten in a new weekly radio dramatic series, STROKE OF FATE, which will have its premiere on NBC Sunday, Oct. 4 (9-9:25 p.m., EST).

The first broadcast will show what might have happened if Robert E. Lee, one of the noblest and most talented military leaders in the country's history, had accepted President Lincoln's offer to command the Union Army. Walter Kiernan will be narrator for this broadcast, and Allan Nevins, Columbia University professor of history and two-time winner of the Pulitzer Prize, will be commentator.

The new series is based on the premise that the fate of a nation, of the world, has often hung upon an accident or upon a decision that, made the other way, would have completely altered the course of human events.

Each "Stroke of Fate" broadcast will be based on historic possibility. The series will be written by Mort Lewis in consultation with such noted historians as Nevins and Stefan Lorant, biographer of Lincoln and author of "The Presidency" and other volumes. One of a noted group of historians, including Nevins and Lorant, will comment at the close of each of the dramatizations.

The question for Oct. 4: What might have happened if Robert E. Lee had remained with the Union rather than with his native state of Virginia? In actual fact, on April 18, 1861, following the surrender of Fort Sumter, the command of the Union forces in the field was offered to the former superintendent at West Point, Robert E. Lee, at that time colonel in the United States Army.

Several months before, in January, 1861, Lee had written: "I can anticipate no greater calamity for the country than a dissolution of the Union. It would be an accumulation of the evils we complain of, and I am willing to sacrifice everything but honor for its preservation."

But Lee refused the command of the Federal forces in the field because he believed his honor was involved when his native state of Virginia joined the secession.

The second broadcast, Oct. 11, will dramatize what might have happened had one of Essex's plots against Queen Elizabeth succeeded. Stefan Lorant will be commentator.

The third broadcast, Oct. 18, will show what might have happened had Alexander Hamilton killed Aaron Burr in their duel, rather than the other way round. Lorant will be commentator.

NBC'S OWNED AND OPERATED STATIONS START COORDINATED PROGRAMMING

The coordinated programming plan of NBC's Owned and Operated Stations got under way this week when "Jinx Falkenburg's Diary" was fed by coaxial cable from WNBT, New York, to WNBW, Washington, D.C. on Monday, Sept. 21.

The new programming concept, according to Charles R. Denny, vice president in charge of NBC's Owned and Operated Stations Divisions, calls for the stations in the division (WNBT, New York; WNBW, Washington; WNBK, Cleveland; WNBQ, Chicago; and KNBH, Hollywood) to exchange topflight local programs during the hours of the day when the co-axial cable is not in use by the network.

"Jinx Falkenburg's Diary" is telecast on WNBT, Mondays-through-Fridays from 1:45 to 2:30 p.m., EST. The Washington feed begins at 2 p.m., consequently WNBW audiences receive a half-hour version of the daytime show.

Sponsorship is available through NBC Spot Sales on a two-city basis for "Jinx Falkenburg's Diary" and on a multiple city basis when coordinated programming is in full operation next month, said Thomas B. McFadden, director of NBC's Spot Sales.

2 - Coordinated Programming

The second and third programs to be offered under the plan will be available on Saturday, Oct. 3. On that date coordinated programming will be expanded when "Creative Cookery" will be fed from WNBQ to WNBK, WNBT and WNBW. "Creative Cookery," a full-hour cooking show, which has been termed "the most sensible cooking show on the air," will be telecast on Saturdays from 11 a.m. to noon, EST. The program, presided over by Francois Pope, will be directed to women who don't have the opportunity to watch such a program during the week, and to men who are amateur cooks. "Creative Cookery" will be followed at noon on the same stations by Richard Willis' "Here's Looking at You" from WNBT. This half-hour program offers beauty hints to women who appear on the program as Willis' guests.

Dick Pack, WNBT's director of programs and coordinator of programs for NBC's Owned and Operated Station Division says that during late October or early November a number of other programs now seen on a local basis on NBC O & Os will be offered to audiences on an inter-city basis.

The first major radio effort under coordinated programming is "Light Up Time," a half-hour nightly music and news show, Mondays through Fridays, to be heard on WNBC, New York; WRC, Washington; WTAM, Cleveland, WMAQ, Chicago; and KNBC, San Francisco, beginning Oct. 5. Sponsored by Lucky Strike cigarettes, the program will present popular music on records presided over by a different emcee in each city.

The second and third programs to be offered under the plan will be available on Saturday, Oct. 3. On that date coordinated programming will be expanded when "Coastline Country" will be taken from WMB to WMT, WNET and WHTB. "Coastline Country," a half-hour evening show, which has been termed "the most beautiful show on the air," will be replaced on Saturday from 11 a.m. to noon. The program, produced by Stewart Top, will be distributed to women who don't have the opportunity to watch such a program during the week, and so will be included in "Coastline Country" will be followed at noon on the same station by Richard and Linda "Looking at You" from WMT, WNET and WHTB. This half-hour program offers women who prefer an evening as well as a morning.

Linda Baskin, chief director of programs and entertainment for NBC's New York and General Station Division, says that during late October or early November a number of other programs will also be on a local basis on WMB as well as other stations in the University Radio.

The first show under the plan was "Coastline Country" which is a half-hour evening show, which has been termed "the most beautiful show on the air," will be replaced on Saturday from 11 a.m. to noon. 'NBC STAR PLAYHOUSE,' FULL-HOUR NBC RADIO SERIES
WITH TOPFLIGHT PERFORMERS, STARTS SUNDAY, OCT. 4

Helen Hayes in Barrie's 'What Every Woman Knows' Is Opening Bill; She Will Share Series With Teams
Of Harrison-Palmer, March-Eldridge and Others

NBC STAR PLAYHOUSE, a new 60-minute dramatic series highlighting top stars of stage and screen in outstanding attractions, will have its premiere Sunday, Oct. 4 on NBC radio (6:30 to 7:25 p.m., EST). Helen Hayes, great lady of the American theatre, will open the series in Barrie's "What Every Woman Knows."

Miss Hayes will enact the same role she played in the famous comedy on Broadway. She later recreated her part for the screen.

In line with its policy of presenting the best available talent of both coasts in stellar vehicles, future "NBC Star Playhouse" programs will offer two famous husband-wife acting teams: Rex Harrison-Lilli Palmer and Fredric March-Florence Eldridge. Negotiations are under way to have all the aforementioned stars appear in one play every three weeks, on a rotating basis, in their present order.

The fourth week will be filled in with guest stars. Already committed in the latter category are such stellar talents as James Cagney, Olivia de Havilland and Humphrey Bogart. Productions will originate in both New York and Hollywood, as the situation demands, both "live" and taped.

Slanted toward an adult family audience, material for the dramatic series will be culled from among the best stage plays, films, novels, short stories and original stories available. Future titles include "Moby Dick," "There Shall Be No Night" and "Victoria Regina," which will mark Miss Hayes' second appearance on the show.

"NBC Star Playhouse" is an NBC network production in association with Gale-Adams Productions. William Welch is network producer. Ed King will direct all the plays originating in New York.

AD AGENCY SECRETARY ENTERS NBC'S 'TRADE-AD CONTEST'
BY CHANCE--AND WINS $1,000 RCA PRODUCTS;
FOUR RUNNERS-UP ALSO ARE NAMED

A pretty young advertising agency secretary who entered just by chance has won NBC's "Trade-Ad Contest" and will receive $1,000 worth of RCA products to help her start housekeeping in her new apartment.

The winner, Mrs. Patricia Minkner, 25, a secretary with Dan B. Miner Company of Los Angeles, proved her knowledge of television by correctly listing nine basic points of leadership of the NBC-TV network

Results of the contest were announced today by Jacob A. Evans NBC-TV's director of advertising and promotion. Four runners-up, each of whom correctly listed eight points of NBC-TV's leadership, will receive 21-inch RCA Victor television sets.

More than 6,000 entries were made available to advertising executives and employees. The contest was held in conjunction with a series of trade advertisements covering the major points of television network leadership. In the course of the campaign, a new point of NBC-TV leadership was given each week for 12 weeks. The deadline for entering the contest was just prior to the third week, so the first two points were shown on each entry blank. Every contestant was then required to fill in the remaining 10 points of leadership. With nine correct selections, Mrs. Minkner came closest to naming the other 10 points.

It was only by chance that she happened to enter the contest at all. The entry blank was mailed to her boss, an account executive, but he was on vacation and wouldn't return until after the contest deadline. Mrs. Minkner, therefore, read the rules, sent in her 10 points of NBC-TV leadership -- and was completely bowled over when told she had won.

She described the first prize of $1,000 worth of RCA products as "manna from heaven," and with reason. Married a little over a year, Mrs. Minkner and her husband have been living in a cramped furnished apartment in Los Angeles. With the $1,000 windfall, however, they are moving into a larger, unfurnished apartment and are starting the interior decorating with her winnings -- a deluxe RCA Estate Gas Range, a 21-inch RCA console television set, and an RCA table model radio-phonograph combination.

Runners-up in the contest were:

George E. Morgan, member of the advertising department of Swift & Company, Chicago.

Mrs. Florence C. Dragon, secretary to J.M. Cleary, vice president of Roche, Williams & Cleary, Inc., Chicago.

Stewart Henderson Britt, vice president of Needham, Louis & Brorby, Chicago.

John L. McQuigg, executive vice president, Lennen & Newell, Inc., Detroit, Mich.

'THE MARRIAGE,' STARRING HUME CRONYN AND JESSICA TANDY, IS NEW FAMILY SITUATION COMEDY ON NBC RADIO NETWORK

The initial script for THE MARRIAGE, co-starring Hume Cronyn and his wife, Jessica Tandy (NBC radio, Sundays, 7:30 p.m., EST, beginning Oct. 4) contains this explanatory passage:

"The National Broadcasting Company's sponsorship of this program constitutes no endorsement of the opinions, philosophies, stubbornness or confusion of the persons represented therein. However: with the conviction that marriage remains the most popular domestic arrangement between friendly people, NBC takes pleasure in presenting one of the most distinguished couples of the American Theatre, Jessica Tandy and Hume Cronyn, in the new dramatic series, 'The Marriage.'"

The Cronyns are heard as Mr. and Mrs. Ben (Liz) Marriott, who live in New York, have been married 17 years and have two children, Emily, 15, and Pete, 10. Ben is a lawyer, "about half way up in the firm," as he puts it, and Liz is a former department store fashion buyer, long since retired for full-time housewifery.

The initial program concerns their conflicting ideas of how to celebrate their wedding anniversary, which takes a very different turn from their plans.

Future broadcasts will reveal the ups and downs of family life, the small adventures and minor mishaps which can be so amusing "when they happen to someone else."

Edward King is directing the series, which will be written by various writers. The first script is by Ernest Kinoy.

'GOLDEN VOICES,' FEATURING OUTSTANDING RECORDINGS OF OPERA AND CONCERT 'GREATS' IN NEW NBC RADIO SUNDAY SERIES

Lawrence Tibbett Will Reminisce in His Role of Host

A new program with Lawrence Tibbett as host and outstanding recorded performances of opera and the concert stage will be offered on Sunday afternoons under the title "Golden Voices," starting Oct. 4 (NBC radio except WNBT, 3:30 p.m., EST).

Each week the great singing personality will select a group of recordings of voices from the past and will make comments about them. He will delve into his own store of experiences and personal reminiscences about these artists and their performances.

Mrs. Henry Souvaine has been selected to write the scripts based on discussions with Tibbett.

Such names as Caruso, Battistini, Galli-Curci, Jeritza, Bori, Tamagno, Ponselle, Martinelli, Farrar, Lehmann, Gadski, McCormack and Chaliapin are but a few of the great artists who have left a rich heritage to present-day music lovers.

The program will be produced by George Voutsas.

AMERICAN TOBACCO BUYS MAJOR NIGHTTIME BLOCK ON FIVE STATIONS REPRESENTED BY NBC SPOT SALES

The American Tobacco Company signed a 52-week contract today with NBC Spot Sales for a major time block on five NBC represented radio stations in major American markets for the presentation of "Light Up Time," an across-the-board nighttime program of news and music, starting Oct. 5.

The sale involves the purchase of time and talent in New York, Washington, Cleveland, Chicago and San Francisco, representing one of the biggest and most significant single radio spot sales buys in recent years.

The contract was placed through Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn for American Tobacco Company in behalf of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. It calls for five half-hours a week on radio on WRC, Washington; WTAM, Cleveland; WMAQ, Chicago; and KNBC, San Francisco, and five 25-minute periods on WNBC, New York.

The first five minutes of "Light Up Time," in each of these cities except New York, will be devoted to a complete news roundup followed by 25 minutes of the best recorded music presided over by a local personality. On WNBC, New York, the musical segment of the series will occupy 20 minutes, with a newscast later at night. A variety of types of music will be offered on "Light Up Time."

(more)

2 - 'Light Up Time'

The week's roster of programs lines up as follows:

- Mondays: "Your Happy Go Lucky Hit Tunes of the Week," presenting the top seven songs played last Saturday on "Your Hit Parade." (On WNBC, New York the five top songs will be played because in that city the program runs 20 minutes.)
- Tuesdays: "Your Happy Go Lucky Night on Broadway," offering popular tunes from musical shows and motion pictures of the past and present.
- Wednesdays: "Your Happy Go Lucky Tunes Country Fashion," a program of America's folk tunes old and news.
- Thursdays: "Your Happy Go Lucky Hits of Yesterday," a show based on songs from "Your Hit Parade" programs for the past 18 years.
- Fridays: "Your Happy Go Lucky Specialty Night," presenting music to create a mood for the night.

"Light Up Time" will be presented five nights a week from 10:30 to 11:00 p.m., in Washington, Cleveland and Chicago. On KNBC, San Francisco, the program will be broadcast from 7:00 to 7:30 p.m., and on WNBC, New York, the musical part of the program will be heard from 6:25 to 6:45 p.m., and the news from 10:30 to 10:35 p.m.

The program of music and news will be broadcast on a Monday-through-Friday basis in all cities with one exception: In New York the newscast only will be presented on Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

The shows will have uniform script and music programming in each city, but a different top local personality will head it up as emcee. The news will be written locally and presented by a local NBC newscaster.

(more)

Newscasters and emcees in each of the cities are:

WNBC, New York: Newscaster, Radcliffe Hall
Emcee, Jim Coy

WRC, Washington, D.C.: Newscaster, Holly Wright
Emcee, Mac McGarry

WTAM, Cleveland: Newscaster, Jay Miltner
Emcee, Joe Mulvihill

WMAQ, Chicago: Newscaster, Jim Hurlbut

KNBC, San Francisco: Newscaster, Ed Brady
Emcee, Hal Wolfe

The American Tobacco Company, in addition to reaching 28 per cent of America's radio audience through the facilities of the five NBC stations, will receive all-out merchandising cooperation through the "Chain Lightning" plan of NBC's Owned and Operated Stations Division plan. American Tobacco will be the first client to benefit from the merchandising benefits of "Chain Lightning" in all the five major markets in which the plan is in operation. As a result, Lucky Strike cigarettes will be featured in more than 3,000 food stores in the five cities, or 20 per cent of all Supermarkets in the country. This total accounts for more than half the volume of such business in the five cities.

Under "Chain Lightning," Lucky Strike's field force and NBC's merchandising staff will work in close liaison in carrying out the merchandising plan.

RALPH EDWARDS PUTS JACKPOT ON WHEELS, AS TREASURE TRUCK DRIVEN BY CONTESTANT WILL VISIT 34 CITIES ACROSS NATION

Local Citizenry Will Have Crack at Big Prizes In Novel
Stunt That Should Be Won 'Easy as Pie'

On the Thursday, Oct. 8 broadcast of Ralph Edwards' program, TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES (9 p.m., EST), some lucky (?) male contestant will begin one of Edwards' zaniest consequences of the 14 years of the program's history. To be known as the "Harvest Gold Peach Pie Man," the contestant will be selected from the audience by emcee Edwards to drive the Truth or Consequences Treasure Truck from coast to coast.

The truck will contain a large replica of a Harvest Gold Peach Pie and a hopper containing a jackpot of prizes. It will also contain several thousand keys, only one of which will open the hopper.

The Harvest Gold Peach Pie Man will drive the truck to 34 different cities throughout the country and stop for a period in a central location. Any person in the city can pick one of the keys and try to open the hopper. Should he be successful, he will receive the jackpot of prizes.

In order to insure a winner, in case someone fails to choose the lucky key, all persons competing will be given cards to sign.
These cards will be filled out with the contestant's name, address and a guess as to the number of keys contained in the truck. If, by the time the truck reaches New York no one has successfully opened the hopper, the prizes will go to the person with the closest guess.

If there should be a winner before the truck reaches New York, the person will be given the prizes and the "Harvest Gold Peach Pie Man" will continue on his scheduled trip -- with new keys and prizes. This means that persons in 34 cities in the United States will have a chance to win the "Truth or Consequences" treasure.

30 DAYS OF SOUVENIR OFFER RESULT IN 250,000 REQUESTS FOR BOOKLET CONCERNING CHARACTERS OF 'ONE MAN'S FAMILY'

More than a quarter-million copies of "This I Give" were requested by ONE MAN'S FAMILY listeners following offer of the booklet as a souvenir marking the start of the NBC radio network program's 22nd year on the air.

Though the premium offer by Miles Laboratories, Inc., was made on the program only during a 30-day period starting March 23, and required the listeners to send in a Bactine box top and 25 cents in coin, requests continued to come in through the Summer months, finally totalling 255,238. This exceeds orders for a similar premium on the program last year by 22,855, an increase attributed to both the program and to local promotion activities by network stations.

The booklet contains a collection of Barbour family memorabilia accumulated during the more than 20 years the program has been on the air. It includes a collection of pictures of five generations of the Barbour family -- from baby pictures of Mother and Father Barbour's five children, Paul, Hazel, Claudia, Clifford and Jack, to their great-grandson, Paul.

Also included are messages from Father Barbour to the members of his family and such items as a grocery bill dated Sept. 25, 1931; a list of Paul's 10 most thumbed-through bedside volumes; a complete calendar of Barbour family dates; a detailed picture of the Barbour house showing the rooms occupied by the family members; kitchen hints; items of baby lore, and a list of Father Barbour's most precious documents.

'CAN YOU TOP THIS?'

Jokemasters Spotlighted as Gag-Swapping Show Returns
To NBC Radio as Monday-through-Friday Feature

The joke-swapping radio comedy show, CAN YOU TOP THIS? will return to the NBC radio network as a five-day-a-week feature beginning Monday, Oct. 5 (Mondays through Fridays, 10:15-10:30 p.m., EST).

The 15-minute sessions will present jokesters "Senator" Ed Ford, Peter Donald, Harry Hershfield and former Governor Harold Hoffman of New Jersey, with Ward Wilson as master-of-ceremonies. Guest joke-makers will be scheduled occasionally.

"Can You Top This?" will use jokes sent in by listeners as primers for the panel of experts to demonstrate their extraordinary story-telling talent and remarkable fund of humor. Peter Donald, master dialectician, serving as the voice of the listener, reads a submitted joke and then each panelist tries to offer a funnier story in the same joke category.

An electric "laughmeter" will be employed to record the volume of studio audience laughter created by Donald's reading of the listener's joke and the ad-libbed follow-ups by the veteran raconteurs.

Payment to listeners for their jokes is on a sliding scale dependent entirely on the intensity of the studio audience response registered on the "laughmeter." When Donald tells a submitted story, the sender starts with a prize of $25 cash. The award is reduced by $5 each time a panel wit tops Donald's rendition. Listeners whose stories are not topped by any of the experts will also receive a recording of Donald telling their jokes.

"Can You Top This?" has been a favorite radio feature for many years. It started on a limited MBS network in 1940 and moved to the NBC radio network Oct. 3, 1942. It remained on NBC until Sept. 25, 1948 and then returned to MBS for the next few years.

The recorded sessions, which will originate in New York, will be produced by "Senator" Ford, originator of "Can You Top This?," and directed by Roger Bower.

'CARMEN,' OPENING PRODUCTION OF 'NBC-TV OPERA THEATRE,' WILL BE TELECAST BY RCA COMPATIBLE COLOR SYSTEM

Saturday, Oct. 31, Experimental Color Production Will Be Available on Standard Receivers in Black-and-White

The NBC TELEVISION OPERA THEATRE's 1953-54 season will open with a one-hour performance to be broadcast in RCA compatible color, it was announced today by Samuel Chotzinoff and Peter Herman Adler. The opening date has been set for Saturday, Oct. 31, and the opera will be a one-hour version of "Carmen."

According to Chotzinoff, NBC general music director and producer of the Television Opera Theatre, there will be eight presentations again this season at the rate of one a month on Saturday afternoons (NBC-TV, 5 p.m., EST). The length of each offering will vary with many of the programs running an hour and a half. Some operas will probably be done in color later in the year.

The opening opera "Carmen" will be the first full hour NBC presentation in color. Viewers with standard black and white television sets will receive the program in black-and-white, since the RCA

'GAMMA', ORIGINALLY PRODUCTION OF THE GERMANS, WILL BE PRESENTED BY RCA CONTRACTED COLOR SYSTEM

Saturday, Oct. 21, Experimental Color Production will be available on Standard Receivers in Philadelphia

The NBC TELEVISION OPERA THEATRE'S 1955-56 season will open with a one-hour performance to be broadcast in RCA Contracted Color. It will be presented today by General Shostakovitch and Peter Haining. The opening date has been set for Saturday, Oct. 21, and the opera will be a one-hour version of "Jenny".

According to Shostakovitch, NBC general manager, the new and improved version of the Television Opera Theatre, there will be other operas. Some again this season at the rate of one a month on Saturday after noon (NBC-TV, 5 p.m., EST). The hopes of such a season will vary with the quality of the programs mounted on the air. Some operas will probably be done in color later in the year.

The opening opera "Gamma" will be the first full length opera presentation in color. Viewers with standard black and white televisions will still receive the program in black and white.

color system is fully compatible. The colorcast will be made under temporary experimental authorization of the Federal Communications Commission.

Vera Bryner has been chosen to sing the title role in this performance of the Bizet classic, with Robert Rounseville as Don Jose and Warren Galjour as Escamillo, the toreador.

The production will be prepared and presented by the NBC Television Opera Theatre's regular staff with Samuel Chotzinoff as producer and Peter Herman Adler as music and artistic director. Kirk Browning is television director.

The opera will be televised from the Colonial Theatre in New York, which is equipped for color television. Utilizing the entire theatre and its acoustical qualities, the NBC Orchestra will be seated in the balcony, which tests have shown to be the best location for the musicians. This also will give greater scope to the performers and the cameras on stage.

"Carmen" was given in a one-hour version on NBC with Miss Bryner in the title role three years ago. This will be an entirely new production, however. William Molyneux will design the settings under the supervision of Richard Day, NBC's color consultant.

The staff of the NBC Television Opera Theatre working on the production also will include Charles Polacheck, associate producer; John Bloch, assistant television director, and Leo Mueller, assistant conductor.

Details for the remainder of the season will be announced shortly.
